More than 10,000 potential soldiers are expected to trek to their voting places and to public buildings in Mansfield and Richland county tomorrow to register in the first peace-time military conscription in the nation's history.

All over the nation approximately 16,500,000 men from 21 to 35 inclusive, will answer Uncle Sam's call to register for a possible year's service in training camps as the nation builds its greatest defense machine to protect its democratic heritage.

In Richland county everything was ready today for the registration which will get under way at 7 a. m. Wednesday and will continue until 9 p. m. More than 250 registrars have been appointed by the county election board to work in registration places. They will receive no pay.

Final instructions were issued to the registrars by the election board last night at the courthouse. Registration cards and information booklets were issued to a representative of each precinct.

Merchants Donate $430 To Purchase Uniforms for Band

George L. Satterlee, general chairman of the recent West Fourth street festival, announced today that West Fourth street merchants voted last night to donate $430 to the fund for buying new uniforms for members of the Senior high school band.

The $430 came partly from the proceeds of the street fair and through personal contributions from the merchants, Satterlee said.

It was also voted at last night's meeting, held at the Ratson Furniture store, to donate $25 to the police pension fund for services rendered by police during the festival.

The festival was held Sept. 25, 26, 27 and 28 to celebrate the opening of West Fourth street, after the street had been closed for three months while new paving was being put down.

Officials of the Band Mothers club, who have been raising money for the new band uniforms, said today they believed the $430 would bring the band uniform fund up to the figure necessary for buying the uniforms.

Plans for forming a permanent organization of West Fourth street merchants to promote West Fourth street businesses were also discussed at last night's meeting. The merchants will meet again later this month to discuss organization, Satterlee.

Guardsmen Answer 'M-Day' Call

800 Arrive For Exams At Armory

Units From 5 Towns In Area Join Mansfield Outfit for Exams.

Mansfield's detachment of the Ohio National Guard, Battery D, 134th field artillery, mobilized its forces at the armory at 7 a. m. today to enter federal service and become part of the U. S. army for the first time since the World war.

The khaki-clad guardsmen were part of 10,500 37th division guardsmen in Ohio to answer the president's call for one year's intensive training at Camp Shelby, Miss.

The detachment, consisting of 75 enlisted men and officers, will be billeted at the armory daily from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. before leaving on the 930-mile truck trip next Monday.

Meanwhile, a six-man medical board began examinations of more than 800 guardsmen and recruits who will come here from surrounding cities fo physical inspection.

One of the 16 medical centers in the state, Mansfield was the examination center for guard units from Bucyrus, Ashland, Marion, Galion and Shreve, which were br ing transported to the armory by truck today.

It is expected that approximately half of the men will be examined today, and that the job will be completed by tomorrow night.

Physical examinations are being given under the direction of Major A. R. Callander of Fort Hayes, Columbus, president of the board. He said those failing in the examination would be given honorable discharges.

Other members of the board are Capt. V. N. Kistler, Capt. Francis M. Wadsworth, Lieuts. W. B. Lybrook, James Passerini and D. P. Ward. They are assisted by two non-commissioned officers and six enlisted men of Battery D.

Capt. R. J. Nichols, Battery commander, said that while awaiting departure for the south the troop will be fed at the armory and will sleep at home due to lack of sleeping quarters at the armory.

They will report daily at 7 a. m. and remain there until 7 p. m., spending most of the time in drill.

Under war department orders, no one except those in military service will be allowed to enter the armory. During the absence of the battery, a guard will be stationed at the building.

Gov. John W. Bricker, in a message to all National Guard officers and enlisted men, pointed out that Davey.

SHIFT PLANS ON TWO CROSSINGS

Engineers Propose Four-Lane Highway Between B. & O. and Erie Structures.

The city today had been presented with a revised state highway department plan on the proposed overhead and underpass railroad crossing eliminations on West Fourth street road, which would provide a highway improvement costing a possible three quarters of a million dollars.

Mayor W. J. Locke told city council last night the highway department had informed him that the proposed two-lane improvement had been abandoned in favor of a four-lane highway and that the city's entire cost in the matter would be $36,500.

This would include a new stretch of highway starting near Ausdale avenue on West Fourth street and extending west, an overhead bridge over the B. and O. railroad tracks, and an underpass at the Erie crossing, with a four-lane highway between the two. Highway officials said they believed the wider highway and bridge was in keeping with Mansfield's development and traffic needs.

Plans are being made for the revised plan and as soon as they

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The White House announced today that President Roosevelt would make two "outright political" speeches of a half hour each on Oct. 23 and Oct. 30. Stephen T. ABOARD THE WILLKIE TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie renewed his criticism of defense production today by declaring that a "startling and disturbing" delay exists in housing the expanded army.

"There must always be some delay in procuring a range finder or an electric firing mechanism," he said in a speech prepared for a late morning rally at Rochester, N. Y.

"There should be no delay in procuring a board and a hammer and some nails. This can only be attributed to pitiful inefficiency."

MAKE NEW CITY AIRPORT SURVEY

WPA and CAA Officials Work on Plans Believed For Army Landing Field.

Mansfield's municipal airport was the object of a new survey today in connection with the war department's proposal to establish a number of emergency flying fields in the state.

Shrouded with the usual military secrecy, details of the plans were not disclosed, although it was learned that WPA and CAA officials are working with government authorities on the program.

Declining to discuss the proposal of the Mansfield site, James L. Kelly, director of district six of WPA in Ohio, which includes Richland county, admitted to The News-Journal today that he had requested recommendations for improvements at the airport be compiled for the government agency.

Kelley said it was "possible" that Mansfield and Springfield may be the two cities in the 20-county central Ohio WPA district in which the port improvement would be made.

Airport officials expressed belief that, in as much as recommendations for improvements had been

Russia Cites Lack of 'Satisfactory Advance Notice' of Rumanian Move; British Convoys Via Mediterranean Reported

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—A Far Eastern non-aggression pact between Japan and Soviet Russia may be signed within the next few days, diplomatic sources here reported today. Japan, they said, would be given a relatively free hand in China and Russia would receive a special sphere of influence along the North China border.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—Pedestrians fell prone on the ground or scurried for shelter as three daring German aerial raiders machine-gunned the streets of London today.

(By Associated Press)

A sharp split in Berlin-Moscow "mutual information" contact was indicated today as Russia sped the massing of Red army troops on the frontier of Rumania, now overrun with German soldiers.

Without confirmation elsewhere, Reuters (British news agency) said in a dispatch from Bucharest that Soviet troops already have advanced into the Danube delta of Rumania.

If true, Russia would appear to be challenging Germany's self-elected guardianship of Rumania.

"The reports suggest that Russia is answering the German occupation of Rumania by moves to gain control of the entire Danube delta," Reuters said.

Other unconfirmed reports from Italian-controlled Albania said the vanguard of between 20,000 and 30,000 German troops had arrived at Durazzo, Albanian port on the Adriatic sea.

The Soviet government, through its official news agency, disclosed that it had not received what it regarded as satisfactory advance notice of Germany's plan to send troops into the rich Balkan oil kingdom in southeast Europe.

The news agency, Tass, officially denied a report published in a newspaper in German-controlled Denmark that "the Soviet government was timely informed that German troops would be sent into Rumania and that the Kremlin was informed of the aims and numbers of troops sent to Rumania."

This was the first open intimation of a possible schism between Germany and Russia, although foreign observers long have said that ultimately their professed friendship would dissolve and they would fight the "real battle of Europe."

The Soviet government's statement was in direct contrast to an assertion by informed Berlin spokesmen, who declared on Oct. 10 that powers friendly to the Rome-Berlin axis had been notified German troops had arrived in Rumania and that others were to follow.

Russia's belated disclosure was all the more surprising in view of the Kremlin's extreme reticence on matters concerning Soviet-German relations.

Tass published this communique:

"The Danish newspaper Politiken publishes a report of its Berlin correspondent stating: 'The Soviet government was timely informed that German troops would be sent to Rumania and that the Kremlin was informed of the aims and number of troops sent to Rumania.'

"Tass is authorized to state that this report of the newspaper Politiken does not correspond to the fact."

DRIVEN OFF: British Say Five Air Raids Are Repulsed

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—German raiders reached the London area five times up to early afternoon today but each time were reported driven off, leaving rescue squads free to dig out the living and dead from the wreckage of the capital's fiercest night attack so far.

The raiders came in successive waves and were met over the southeast coast by squadron after squadron of British fighters.

In the early morning, British long-range guns on the channel coast fired several salvos across the Dover strait. Their shells burst in the sea, but mist prevented watchers on the English coast from seeing the targets.

By noon, the British were said to have shot down eight German planes. They came in waves sometimes at five-minute intervals.

Some bombs fell in the London area during the first two daylight attacks, but each time the alarm lasted only a few minutes.

Waves of Nazi planes were seen crossing the southeast coast at Margate headed for London, where the night raiders dumped new combination blast and fire bombs from light, fast planes.

Other daylight raiders were reported in the vicinity of Liverpool, important shipping center.

Firemen barely had brought under control fires which at one time

SUMMONED: Japs Ask Grew To Explain Washington Order

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—Informed sources reported today that United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew had been summoned to the Japanese foreign office and asked for an explanation of Washington's action in advising American citizens to leave the Orient.

Authorities declined comment, but it was understood the ambassador had been questioned at length.

Passenger agents for shipping lines, meanwhile, reported that reservations on vessels bound for the United States were booked solidly up to the middle of December.

Numerous Americans were attempting to book passage on ships sailing in the opposite direction bound for Manila, whence they hoped to fl homeward.

SPEED UP EVACUATION

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Arrangements for removing American nationals from the troubled Orient were speeded up today as the midnight deadline approached for the embargo which will cut off iron and steel scrap from Japan.

With some United States citizens already quitting Far Eastern ports on regular transpacific liners, the state department announced last night that three American vessels would be sent to China and Japan to help repatriate about 3,000 Americans who want to return home immediately.

Charged With Murdering Mother as She Reads Bible

FOSTORIA MAN CAPTURED IN KENTON SQUARE

Refusal to Pay For Gas Leads To Discovery of Woman Shot Through Head.

FOSTORIA —(U.P.)— Dalton F. Stocksdale, 25-year-old radio repairman, was to be arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of murdering his 50-year-old mother while she sat in their home reading a Bible.

Stockdale was accused of first degree murder in a warrant filed by Police Chief John Walsh after Stockdale was captured late yesterday in Kenton, 55 miles south of Fostoria.

Returned to jail here, Stocksdale refused to talk when questioned by Assistant County Prosecutor Frank Young.

A gasoline station attendant Milo Hangsteller, who was wounded in the neck by Stocksdale, was recovering today. It was the shooting of Hangsteller in an argument over Stocksdale's refusal to pay for a gallon of gasoline that led to discovery of the slaying of Mrs. Frank J. Stocksdale, his mother.

Police went to the Stocksdale home in search of Dalton and found the mother dead in a chair with a Bible in her lap. She had been shot twice through the neck and once through the head.

Officers from Tiffin, Findlay, Fremont and other nearby communities joined Fremont deputies and armed citizens in a hunt for the son. Around dusk, Kenton police sighted a suspicious-looking automobile a mile out of the city and gave chase.

The pursuit ended in Kenton's courthouse square when Stocksdale reached for a gun and lost control of his car. It struck a parked car and he was captured.

Young said the case probably would be given to the Seneca county grand jury tomorrow.

Elliott Roosevelt Continues Duties As Liaison Officer

DAYTON—(INS)—His submitted resignation refused by his commanding officer, Elliott Roosevelt, the president's second son, today continued his duties as a captain in the air corps reserve, serving as a liaison officer between the air corps and the signal corps.

Brig. Gen. O. P. Echols, assistant commander of the material division of Wright field, said he refused the resignation because the large amount of work passing through the procurement division of the army air base had made Roosevelt's services necessary.

"His (Roosevelt's) background in radio makes him perfectly capable of his duties," General Echols said.

The president's son said he submitted his resignation because the adverse publicity his commission had received might prove injurious to the selective service program.

His physical examination revealed that Elliott's eyesight rendered him unfit for combat or flying service, General Echols said.

U. S. and Canada Speed Up Power Project

In the October issue of The Publishers' Weekly is a two page advertisement of Alan F. Griffin's book "Freedom—American Style," which indicates that the publisher has an idea that it is an exceptionally good book. Two full pages of ads is seldom devoted to anything but a sure-fire best seller, and practically never to a book that sells for a dollar. "No one made us publish a book of this kind—that's one reason we are proud to do it," is one statement of the publisher. Griffin, native of Mansfield and now teaching at Ohio State, is the third Richland countian to have a first book published this month—Charles McKinley Jr., and Clark Garber of Butler.

There is one Mansfield man who claims that he should have been invited to attend the reunion of former employes of the old Mansfield Shield which was held at Malabar farm Saturday. Julius Weber never worked on the paper in any capacity, but he claims that he was a frequent "angel," and that when the publisher ran low on funds to meet the payroll or for other expenses that he would come to Weber for a temporary financial lift. "I may not have been on the staff," Weber said today, "but by golly no one was more important to the paper than I was—on occasions."

Mayor W. J. Locke received a letter today from J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, informing him that Mansfield's police chief, Meade K. Bates took his first course in training in 1937 and has been back for a week of re-training each year since then.

PUT FLASHERS IN OPERATION

Erie and B. & O. Railroads Erect Caution Lights on Main and Mulberry.

New flasher lights were in operation today at the North Main and North Mulberry street crossings of the Erie and Baltimore and Ohio railroads, replacing watchmen who have guarded the safety of pedestrains and motorists there for the past several years.

It was the first time, however, that protection has been provided at the grades on a 24-hour basis. Watchmen have been on duty only from 5 a. m. until 11 p. m. daily.

The joint installation represents an expenditure of approximately $29,000 and is in addition to the signals installed several weeks ago by the B. and O. at the North Main, Surrey road and Ohio Brass company drive crossing.

Installation of the lights now affords persons 24-hour protection at all northside railroad crossings with the exception of the North Diamond street grade which is on Ohio Brass company property and at which the company provides a part time watchman during the hours that working shifts enter and leave the company grounds.

Agitation for protection at all crossings in the city was started early in 1938 by former Mayor Claude M. Hunter following a fatal accident at the Bowman street crossing of the B. and O. That installation was made about a year ago.

SETS UP $170 IN PRIZES FOR CITY'S HALLOWEEN OBSERVANCE

Plans to make the 1940 Halloween parade the most colorful the city has ever seen were mapped last night when the general committee met with Walter L. Beckley, chairman, at the American Legion home.

McVey Post, sponsoring the community celebration for the second year, will give $170 in cash prizes to winners in a number of classifications.

A new contest open to both adults and children is expected to add interest and a whimsical touch to the parade. Prizes of $10 and $5 to first and second winners will be awarded for the best characters from the daily comic strips and the animated movie cartoon—such as Little Orphan Annie, Pop Eye, Andy Gump, Dagwood, Mickey Mouse, Porky Pig, and any one of the dozens of cartoon characters that are familiar to newspaper readers and movie goers. Equal prizes will be given in a children's cartoon contest and to adults.

Another new contest this year will be $5 for the best dressed dog. This is expected to bring out a good share of the town's canine population in elegant or fantastic attire.

The highest cash prizes will be awarded in the float contest, with $35 for first prize, $20 for second and $10 for third. Beckley and his committee decided that no trucks would be permitted in this year's parade, and the chairman pointed out that bunting draped over a truck did not make a float. Neither will a comemrcial or advertising float be accepted for the parade. All floats, Beckley said, must reflect the spirit of the celebration—a community affair to entertain and amuse. Several concerns have already signified intentions to have patriotic or historical floats in the parade.

Auto dealers may have the last section of the parade for their new cars, but these will be turned off before the parade reaches the judging stand.

Other classifications for prizes include $5 and $3 for the most comic child's costume, for both boys and girls, but with first and second prizes in each division; $5 and $3 for the most comic costume for men and women in separate divisions; $10 and $5 first and second prizes for the finest costume for men and women; and $5 for the best decorated bicycle.

Concerns or lodges entering floats must notify William Rose at Carek's Floral shop, chairman of that committee.

BROWN DROPPED

President Asks Return of Nomination From Senate.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt today will request the senate to return to the White House his unconfirmed nomination of Thad Brown, Columbus, for re-appointment to the federal communications commission.

In a letter to the president, Brown asked that his name be withdrawn because he wanted to enter private law practice. The president "reluctantly" agreed to do so.

The nomination has languished in the senate interstate commerce committee since June 5 without action. Senator Charles H. Tobey, R., N. H., opposed Brown's renomination. Several hearings were held but no vote ever was taken on reporting the nomination to the senate.

AGREE ON WATER RIGHTS ALONG ST. LAWRENCE

Move Made to Assure Sufficient Power to Dominion For Defense Industries.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Announcement that the United States and Canada have taken preliminary steps to develop the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence basin project was interpreted here today as another move to strengthen relations between these two English-speaking neighbors of the western hemisphere.

The state department announced last night that the two countries have agreed to an immediate exchange of water along that waterway "to assist in providing an adequate supply of power to meet Canadian defense needs."

Canada is doing everything possible to provide war materials for Great Britain. President Roosevelt in his hemispheric defense address last Saturday said that the United States would continue its aid to Britain and his remarks, generally, were believed to presage moves to bring about closer cooperation between Canada and the United States.

The state department's announcement said that the whole project has been initiated "in order to assure adequate power supplies to meet the requirement of defense production in the northeastern part of the United States and Canada."

President Roosevelt has advocated completion of the project for many years and frequently has pointed out its power and navigation possibilities.

But it has been a much-debated subject in congress. A treaty providing for navigation and power development of the river was signed by representatives of the two countries on July 18, 1932, but it was rejected by the senate.

The immediate exchange of waters, the state department said will permit Canada to use additional water to generate power at Niagara Falls, contingent upon diversion of an equivalent amount of water which normally flows into Hudson Bay, to the Great Lakes.

The water exchange, it said, had been agreed to by this country "pending the conclusion of a final Great Lakes-St. Lawrence basin agreement between the two countries."

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Miss Midnight's Diary.

Dear Diary: It was a quiet week in the bistros — gay, packed, prosperous and entertaining, but uneventful.

Paul Draper was allowed to dance, Carol Bruce to sing, and the Lunts to perform; no one climbed upon the stage to interrupt Ed Wynn's shenanigans, no waiters were tackled at the Stork club, no noted inebriate decided to lead the band at El Morocco.

But for those strolling the town in search of the minor excitements which are to be found even on calm days in this electric city, there were items of passing interest.

Item 1: The beautiful young lady doing a series of figure eights—or, for all I know, figure nines—on the roller skating rink in Rockefeller Center Monday afternoon was Joan Crawford, of the cinema and this winter, possibly of the New York stage. But the crowd along the gallery and the watchers in the adjoining French and English cafes did not recognize her. They were entranced with the expert skating of a group from the ballet, who keep in trim by roller skating every afternoon.

I do not know whether Joan was skating to keep in trim or just for fun, but I can report that she looked trim.

Item 2: Spivy's small roof was such a hotbed of celebrities at Peg LaCentra's opening Monday night that the number of well-knowns exceeded the number of I-wonder-who-they-ares.

Garson Kanin, just off the plane from Hollywood, William Saroyan (just off the typewriter, I suspect), John Garfield, Sam Levene and Martin Gabel formed a nice, compact little party. And Gail Patrick formed a lovely party, too. The Franklin D. Roosevelts seem to have adopted the tiny boite as a hangout, where they are as sure of finding Martha Raye, Tamara Geve, Frances Williams and Lela Rogers as the latter are sure of finding them.

I am sure there is no place in town capable of being quite as crowded as Spivy's. While I was there I noticed that a waiter removed a champagne bucket and put a table for two in its place!

Item 3: Ernest Truex and his cane came limping into the Algonquin, and the comedian was greeted with all the enthusiasm of a Fordham halfback who had heroically injured himself on the field of battle.

Mr. Truex, who hurt his leg (a now famous fact) while leaping about in "George Washington Slept Here," was beaming. I suppose it was almost worth it, with all the attention he was getting.

Among the non-cane-bearing lunchers were Isobel Jewel, Frank Buck, Jessica Tandy, Louis Bromfield, Rochelle Hudson, Jean Parker, Edna Ferber, Robert Benchley, and Steffi Duna. Mr. Frank Case, the proprietor of the establishment, was guilty of a shameful pun when Miss Duna remarked:

"Isn't it warm in here?" . . .

"Yes," Mr. Case remarked, "positively steffi."

I didn't overhear Mr. Benchley saying anything funny, but he looked as though he were saying something I would have liked to overhear.

Item 4: Jock Whitney lunched with his briefcase at the Cafe Louis XIV.

Looking rather scholarly, and extremely intent, he pored over papers and appeared, from where I was sitting, to be solving most of the problems currently besetting the universe, or at least this hemisphere. His secretary (masc.) was on hand to aid in the progress, but it was the briefcase which got all the attention. Later, Mr. Whitney joined Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and really managed to eat a bite or two.

Walter Wanger munched brunch with five males. Lawrence Tibbett (who is getting becomingly gray) chatted over demi tasse with the George Hugh Harrises.

Item 5: The Russian Kretchma was the scene of a wild revel the other night, sparked by the after-Carnegie Hall crowd who had been to hear the Don Cossack Choir.

When Prince Serge Obolensky entered, stagging it with Captain Boris Sergievsky, the altitude flier (and it bothered me all evening to think of an altitude flier here in a basement), the orchestra swung into the Imperial Russian anthem, and everyone respectfully arose, even Ed Wynn, who was having a time with Dave Apollion.

The place was rife with Olgas, Sergeis and Borises. Fefe Ferry, that old Russian tavern keeper, dropped in with Olga Petrova, and Olga Baclanova looked dashing enough to sweep most eyes off their feet. Some of the Cossacks sang, and a lot of the audience joined in.

Ed Wynn was introduced to a stranger with a 12-or-more syllable name. "Fordham or Notre Dame?" he inquired politely.

Item 6: One incident had the barflies at El Morocco buzzing last Thursday night. Bruce Cabot, who has been palling around with "Bunty" Bacon since his arrival in town, left "Bunty" and went over to the bar to join a beautiful young woman, to whom he devoted himself for the rest of the evening.

This would be no news to any friend of Bruce, except for one thing: the beautiful young woman was Eleanor "Cookie" Young, Bunty's former wife!

Heigh, ho.

Mystery of Eye Tooth Murder Thought Solved

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— The five-year-old mystery of a missing eye tooth was believed solved today with the arrest in Rochester, N. Y., of Casper, Grafficio, 45, to face a first-degree murder indictment.

When police found the body of Mike Kozak, 40, a steelworker, stabbed more than 100 times with an ice pick in a speakeasy on Dec. 27, 1935, they had only one clew to his death.

It was a man's eye tooth they found beside the body. The tooth fit neither Kozak nor another man in the room. But friends of the dead man remembered a third man who, after the stabbing, apparently had lost an eye tooth. Today Seregt. Hogan believed the investigation was ended with Grafficio's arrest in Rochester.

Mighty Massillon Unbeaten In 28 Gridiron Contests

Combine Plays Steubenville In Tilt Friday

Gillom Is Top Scorer for Tiger Outfit With 78 Points This Season.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The country's college coaches, ever on the hunt for touchdown-toters, should find Ohio's high school gridirons a happy hunting ground this season.

Among the thousands of kids carrying the mail for the Buckeye scholastic squads are several who can do it in special delivery style

Topping the list of point-makers is Canton McKinley's scintillating Negro halfback, Athie Garrison, who has pounded across enemy goal lines 15 times in five games. An injured knee held him to two touchdowns last week-end as the Bulldogs scampered to a 34 to 0 win over Warren, their fifth in a row.

Horace Gillom, Massillon's huge colored end, all-Ohio first stringer in 1939, is tied with Matthew Brown, Canton McKinley's left end, at 60 points apiece. Fred Blunt, Massillon fullback, and Willie Davis, Lorain's colored quarterback, have 18 each.

With the season only half gone, indications are that the mark with which Fremont's Bob Shaw led the Class A scorers last year will be bettered. Each of the top-notchers is on an undefeated team, Massillon, Canton McKinley and Lorain each having five straight for the year.

The Massillon club ran its string to 28 straight wins by beating Alliance, which had four in a row, before 33,000 fans in Akron's Rubber Bowl by a count of 40 to 0. That hiked the Tiger attendance to 100,000 for the year, and the Massillons are enlarging their stadium seating capacity to 21,000 for the Nov. 1 game with Toledo Waite and the Nov. 16 scrap with their old enemy, Canton McKinley.

The mighty Massillon crew has counted 285 points to none for the foe, while Lorain, in taking its 19th consecutive victory 52 to 0, over Shaker Heights ran its count to 219 to nothing for the opposition. Toledo Waite winner of last year's Buckeye Bowl game, annexed its 16th in a row by trimming Knoxville Tenn 20 to 13.

That gave Waite five straight for the present campaign, knotting the Toledo crew with Massillon, Canton McKinley, Lorain, East Liverpool Newark, Dalton, Shelby, Xenia O. S. & S. O. Home Cleveland Collinwood and Toledo Devilbiss.

Right behind with four consecutive wins, are Orrville (unbeaten last year), and Hillsboro, while McConnellsville has three straight. Other top teams include Bellefontaine and Washington Court House with one tie and four wins, and Zanesville Marietta Portsmouth and Springfield, each beaten once in five attempts.

Among those falling for the first time last week-end were Alliance, Campbell Memorial (first loss in 15 games) Girard Youngstown Boardman Dayton Fairmont (first loss in 13 games) and Cleveland Shaw, the latter bowing 18-7 to unbeaten Cleveland Collinwood.

Some sensational performances were registered by individual stars in the week-end frays. Bob Campbell, Wellsville's shifty halfback, turned in 59 and 85-yard touchdown jaunts against Toronto to win 18 to 0.

Chuck Deshler of East Liverpool returned a punt 65 yards for a touchdown as New Philadelphia fell 31 to 0; Willie Carter, Akron South's colored half, ran a punt back 86 yards for the team's only score as it lost to Portsmouth 19 to 6.

Ben Fleming, Sandusky back, had touchdown runs of 53, 29 and two yards to beat Mansfield 32 to 21; and Center Jack Franklin of Toledo Scott realized every lineman's dream by intercepting a pass and racing 85 yards for the touchdown that beat Toledo Libbey 6 to 0.

Benny Hopes For 11 Players

Friedman Has Trouble Getting Full Squad Out.

NEW YORK (NS—Some collegiate football coaches feel when one player misses practice session, Coach Benny Friedman at City college of New York that's no sort of all.

The former Michigan passing wizard just wishes he could get a full team of eleven men out together for one practice.

Benny has a squad of 35 players this season but says it's hard to get 'em together to practice as a team. For example yesterday eight men showed up for practice. The others, according to Friedman, had late classes or were "hitting the studies."

Despite all this Friedman was confident today the team would win "possibly three out of the remaining games."

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(UP)—I did my best to count to 10 before writing this, but when I reached eight my temper overpowered my mathematics so here goes on what I think of Ogden D. Miller's speech to the New York Football Writers association.

Ogden D. Miller is the new chairman of the Yale athletic council, and his listeners included representatives of all the metropolitan papers and such football coaches as Dr. Mal Stevens of N. Y. U., Major Swede Larsen of Navy, Lou Little of Columbia, Dr. Jock Sutherland of the Brooklyn Dodgers Jimmy Crowley of Fordham, and Steve Owen of the New York Giants.

Miller read from a script. I have no doubt but that he wrote it himself, but it sounded exactly like pages 33 to 47 (inclusive) of the original Carnegie Foundation report on the evils of football.

You know the old stuff—commercialism has reared its ugly head. Yale does not mind being beaten 50 to 7 by Pennsylvania. There will be no criticism of the coaches or players. Athletes will get no better or worse treatment than any other students at Yale. Yale is 240 years old and has had its share of victories. . . . Yale could get droves of athletes if it cared to . . . Dangerous times are ahead for football . . . Professional football is one of the outstanding signposts. . . . Football has no great value save for what it earns to be used in providing sports for the other students. . . .

The time to talk purity in football is not two days after your team has been beaten 50 to 7 as Yale was by Pennsylvania last Saturday. That's the worst licking any Yale team ever took (and Yale is 240 years old don't you forget).

Miller's unconcern about a winning football team was in sharp contrast to the feelings of the speaker who preceded him, Major Larsen of Navy. The major touched on the perilous times this country faces and expressed the belief that the winning spirit was what this country needed more than anything else.

Miller's remarks on pro football brought the flush of pride to the cheeks of Dr. Jock Sutherland, who was sitting only four seats away.

Dr. Stevens, an old Blue himself and a former coach at Yale, spoke immediately after Miller.

"I've got enough troubles of my own, without worrying about Yale," he said.

As for myself—and I am 242 years old, Mr. Miller—I just want to know one thing:

* * *

If Yale is so scornful of the football and the money it makes why is it that Yale sells the broadcast rights to its home games to a gasoline company?

RICHCREEK OUT

ASHLAND — (NS) — Suffering from a fractured right ankle and torn ligaments, Jim Richcreek, Ashland college football and basketball star, today was declared out for the remainder of the grid season. Richcreek was injured in the team's 12-0 win over Otterbein Saturday.

Charges State Team Is 'Soft'

Club Asks More Tackling, Blocking in Workouts.

COLUMBUS — (NS) — Charges that the Ohio State university football team was "soft" from lack of scrimmage and also poorly schooled in fundamentals were hurled today as the Bucks prepared for the invasion of the Minnesota Gophers in Ohio stadium Saturday afternoon.

In a "special emergency" meeting held last night, the team asked Coach Francis Schmidt for more tackling and blocking-dummy work, plus at least two scrimmages a week.

Capt. Jimmy Langhurst called the meeting after reviewing the Bucks "worn out" showing in both the Purdue and Northwestern games. Fifty-five Bucks, with no coaches present, settled the scrimmage issue.

"We just don't have enough hard work and bodily contact during the weekly practices and we aren't physically ready for those tough games on Saturday," Langhurst is quoted as saying.

"We've all made up our minds that we'll ask the coach for more hard work during the week. We're going to start this afternoon and maybe we'll be ready for that Minnesota bunch," the captain declared.

Langhurst revealed that the team meetings would be held weekly throughout the season to "iron out difficulties" that arise.

Holds State Boxing Title

Jannazzo Whips Cocoa Kid In Maryland Match.

BALTIMORE, Md — (AP) — Izzy Jannazzo of New York City held the welterweight title of the state of Maryland today but was recognized only as leading contender by the New York and National boxing commission.

Jannazzo won the recognition of the Maryland board last night by pounding out a 15-round decision over the Cocoa Kid of Puerto Rico.

Jannazzo gained the verdict when Jack Dempsey, refereeing the bout and Judge Ed Brockman cast their votes in his favor. Charley Baum, the second judge, voted for the Cocoa Kid.

The Maryland commission withdrew recognition from Henry Armstrong as welter champ just a few days before Armstrong lost his title to Fritzie Zivic.

Snyder Explains Scoring Plays Used In Sandusky High Contest

A RESUME of a few of the plays used by the Mansfield Tygers in their game with Sandusky here last Friday featured a meeting of the Mansfield Downtown Coaches' association in the high school gymnasium last night, attended by about 30 members.

Coach Paul Snyder diagramed the plays for the members, showing which plays were used by the team in scoring their touchdowns, and why other plays did not work. Snyder told the "coaches" that there was "too much Fleming."

Snyder did not include any of his plays for the Massillon game Oct. 25 at Stadium Field, but he added "we will probably use everything we have."

He told the coaches that the key of Massillon's success was blocking and plenty of speed, and that they could expect the Tygers "to show plenty of fight in the Massillon game."

A resolution read by O. C. McCormick to change the fiscal year for memberships from Jan. 1 to Jan. 1, to Sept. 1 to Sept. 1, was adopted by the association.

The group also voted to make their annual award to the most outstanding athlete at the school. The next meeting will be held Oct. 28 at the high school, following the Massillon game.

Seats Still Available For Massillon Game.

There are still seats available for the Mansfield-Massillon football game to be played at Stadium field Oct. 25, according to an announcement today by George Sherman, Senior high school treasurer. Persons planning to see the contest and who do not have their tickets as yet are urged by Sherman to do so as soon as possible. All seats are reserved and are priced at 75 cents each. Tickets may be purchased at the Tawse Pharmacy, Central Drug store, Mansfield Athletic Supply, Brown's Drug store, Buncker Sports and the Auxter Motor Sales.

SHAUGHNESSY SAYS HIS TEAM HAS BEEN LUCKY

SAN FRANCISCO—(NS)—Coach Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford, who has become a Pacific coast sensation by wins over the University of San Francisco, Oregon and Santa Clara in his first three starts, insisted today "we've been lucky to date." Then he lamented that he has only one more day to work with his team before departing Thursday for Pullman where the Indians meet undefeated Washington State Saturday.

Steele Wins Preliminary Bout On Weekly Wrestling Program

PROMOTER BOB STEELE presented the second wrestling program of the season last night in the Doehla-Soprana Athletic club, located on East Third street.

He not only promoted the show, but also participated in the opening bout on last night's card. Due to an injury received in a football game, Vern Heiser was unable to grapple, so Steele, rather than substitute an unknown amateur donned his ring togs and won over Wendell Grassel in 14 minutes with a ferris wheel headlock.

The feature match of the evening was between Tiger Moore and Gil LaCross. LaCross won the first fall in 17 minutes with a series of body slams and body smother. Moore downed LaCross in 7 minutes with a Canadian crab to win the second stanza, in which both grapplers began to get rough.

The deciding fall was rougher yet and it appeared LaCross was about to hammer Moore into submission, but the Tiger unloosed a kangaroo kick that flattened LaCross for the count.

In the semi-final bout LaChappell won over Angelo Martini, the "Barefoot Boy." LaChappell won the first fall after a furious fist fight.

Angelo returned for the next round and began the fight all over again and was finally disqualified by Referee Frank Grassell. After a melee in which the fans came to the rescue of Grassell when he and Martini tangled, LaChappell settled the argument by legally downing Martini.

Duck Hunting to Be Permitted at Charles Mill Dam

Duck hunters in this vicinity can start polishing up their equipment any day now because duck hunting will be permitted at Charles Mill dam, south of route 30, beginning Wednesday and continuing until Dec. 14.

According to County Game Protector C. I. Kimmel, who made the announcement today, a checking station will be instuted at the building near the boat dock on route 30, where all hunters will be required to register.

Kimmel said that duck blinds may be built by hunters but permission must be obtained from officials in charge of the checking station. Each hunter building a blind will be given a number.

Hunters may shoot ducks at the dam from sunrise until 4 p. m. on any day during the season. Kimmel cautioned, however, that hunters should not rely on calendars or almanacs for time of sunrise. A chart stating the exact time of sunrise on each day will be posted at the checking station and places where licenses are sold.

Cornell Tops First 1940 National Football Poll

Club Draws Votes

Wins 90 of 156 Ballots; Texas A. & M. Romps Into Second Place.

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Cornell football team, which has rolled up 79 points in its first two games, rolled up 1,396 points today to take first place in the first Associated Press gridiron ranking poll of the 1940 season.

The polished and powerful Ithacans, operating with 10 of last year's regulars and almost all of last year's reserves, drew 90 votes for No. 1 team out of a total of 156 ballots.

That gave them a 381-point margin over Texas A. & M., the team which topped the final poll in 1939 and so far, with line-busting John Kimbrough working as well as ever, has won all its games.

The Aggies, with 25 first-place nominations and 1,015 points, barely nosed out Michigan and Tommy Harmon, with 26 and 1,004. The next four teams also were given front rank on various ballots. Northwestern, upset conqueror of Ohio State, got only ten of these, but had sufficient supplementary support for 898 points and fourth place.

The first ten was completed by Boston college, so far unbeaten and untied in its second year under Frank Leahy, 449; Pennsylvania, which wrote a new, if unpleasant, chapter into Yale football history with that 50-7 triumph last Saturday, 354; and Stanford, which under Clark Shaughnessy, in his first year away from Chicago, is the only all-winning Pacific Coast team, 267.

Of those leaders, only B. C. has an easy assignment Saturday against Idaho.

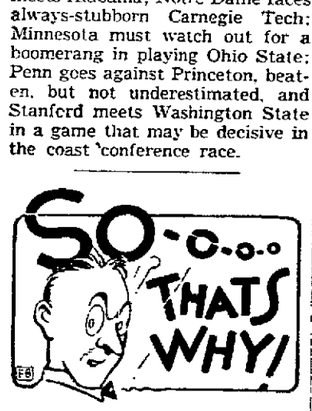
Cornell's rating will rise or fall upon its showing against Syracuse, which snapped back to life against New York U., last week-end.

* * *

Texas A. and M. plays Texas Christian in the Southwest conference, where every game is a battle; Northwestern takes on Wisconsin and its fullback, George Paskvan: Tennessee, as mentioned, meets Alabama; Notre Dame faces always-stubborn Carnegie Tech; Minnesota must watch out for a boomerang in playing Ohio State; Penn goes against Princeton, beaten, but not underestimated, and Stanford meets Washington State in a game that may be decisive in the coast conference race.



WASHINGTON STATE— THE "COUGARS"

Nickname of the Washington State college team. "Cougars," originated in 1919 when the team made its first trip to California other than the initial Rose Bowl game of 1916.

Washington State beat the University of California, 14 to 0, the last defeat before the Golden Bears' string of "wonder team" victories.

California sports writers declared the Washington boys fought like cougars. The name stuck.

From 1927 to 1937 Washington State had a live cougar called "Butch Meeker" after a star football player. The animal died and last year another one was procured. It is called "Butch II."

BRUINS PLEDGE NOT TO LOSE ANOTHER GAME

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—U. C. L. A.'s Bruins, still definite threats for Pacific coast conference honors, were working harder than ever today — determined to lose no more games this season. They have had three disastrous so far, but yesterday just before practice, they took a "solemn pledge" not to lose another game. They meet California next week.

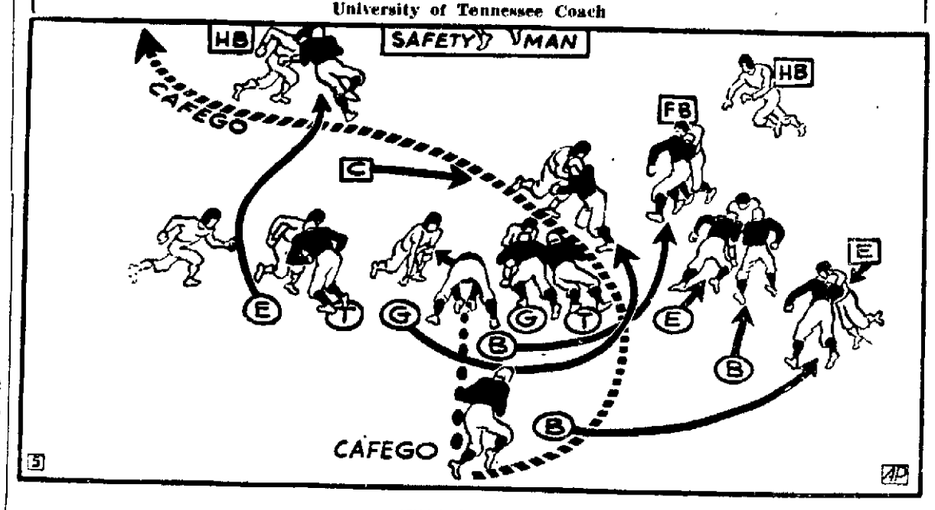
"I LIKE THIS PLAY"

By BOB NEYLAND

University of Tennessee Coach



(Fifth In a Series)

This cutback inside left tackle just about clinched our game with Louisiana State last year. We had a none-too-large one-touchdown lead in the third quarter when Cafego ran 16 yards for our second touchdown. Cafego faked off the end, cut back, and good downfield blocking enabled him to score. Our left end took out the defensive right half. Our right guard pulled out and around the center. Our No. 2 back bumped the fullback. Our right end and No. 1 back took out the opposing tackle and Tennessee's right guard and tackle cut down the Louisiana left guard.

LAST NIGHT'S BOWLING SCORES

IT WAS up to Henry Michaels of the Liederkranz team to bust the maples at a 600 clip last night at the Meder Recreation alleys.

Starting out with a spectacular 235, Henry hit 216 and added a 201 as his team lost two games to the Richman Clothers.

J. Thull of the American Legion team also had a 235, but his opening game was 157 and he ended up with 183 for a 575.

BOWMAN elementary school gained undisputed possession of the grade school touch-football league yesterday afternoon by edging Hedges school 8 to 7 to chalk up its fifth straight win of the season.

Football Briefs

WEST POINT, N. Y.—(INS)—Army's hopes for a win against Harvard this Saturday soared today with assurances that Hank Mazur, the triple threat sophomore back, will be ready for action.

* * *

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Pitt's already de-emphasized football squad, today was further de-emphasized by serious injuries which will take two players out of the contest with Fordham this Saturday, it was learned today.

Joe Rettinger, star right end, was confined in the hospital with a broken leg, suffered in the game with SMU, and John Gates, left guard, is suffering from torn ligaments.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(INS)—Striving to recover from last Saturday's 50 to 7 trouncing at the hands of Pennsylvania, the Elis marshalled their forces today for this coming Saturday's battle with Dartmouth. The team more or less philosophically accepted the Penn debacle as a necessary adjunct of Yale's football de-emphasis program.

HAMILTON, N. Y.—(INS)—Colgate concentrated on passing today for Saturday's encounter here with Duke. Coach Andy Kerr had the backs passing to the ends in a long drill.

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Its squad badly depleted by injuries, Cornell prepped today for Saturday's game here with Syracuse. Several first-stringers were on the sidelines with injuries.

MINNEAPOLIS —(INS) Forward pass defense came in for major attention today as Minnesota's Gophers continued full scale workouts for the meeting with Ohio State Saturday in their conference debut. The squad will start the journey to Columbus on Thursday.

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — (INS) — Notre Dame's gridders today were to look at movies of their 26-20 victory over Georgia Tech before getting down to hard work for the Carnegie Tech game here Saturday. Last year, Carnegie gave the Irish a scare, when Notre Dame won by a single point, 7-6.

* * *

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—Loss of regular right halfback Ike Kepford for perhaps two weeks was announced today by Northwestern's team physician. Kepford suffered a shoulder separation in the Ohio State game and will not be able to play against Wisconsin this week, it was said.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Pigskin potpourri:

With less ballyhoo than usual, Fordham has come up with what promises to be the best football clubs of the Jim Crawley era. . . . Great defense and versatile offense.

But it is a "60-minute" club which may encounter trouble later because of the lack of capable reserves. . . . The Tennessee-Alabama rivalry is the hottest in the south and usually produces a big bowl game eligible.

In the last three years, the winners of this back yard brawl have gone to the Rose Bowl twice and the Orange Bowl once. . . . Although Alabama has won 12 of their previous 21 games with Tennessee, the clubs are all square with four wins and a tie each since Frank Thomas took over at Tuscaloosa.

Since the southeastern conference was formed seven years ago, Alabama has won 33, lost six and tied four for an .846 average to lead the league while Tennessee occupies the second slot with 32 wins, 10 losses and two ties for .762. . . . Little Sewanee on the Tennessee mountain top is the only southeastern club never to win a conference game.

Long Island U's team will fly to Cresson, Pa., next Sunday to play St. Francis' college.

The airport at Cresson is not big enough for the airliner to land, so the team will be flown to Martinsburg, Pa., and shuttled to Cresson by bus.

Coach Clair Bee says it will be cheaper than traveling by train because they leave New York in the morning and return the same night. . . . No hotel and meals.

The boys who couldn't understand how Clemson walloped Wake Forest so badly did not know that Johnny Jett, a towering left end, and Pat Preston, 195 pound tackle, would be on the sideline with injuries.

North Carolina claims the honor for throwing the first forward pass in football history for its 1895 team.

Only non-Texan on the 45-man T. C. U. roster is Jimmy Hampton, reserve guard from Hope, Ark. . . . Some of the southern clubs are beginning to brag about the northerners doing football duty in Dixie.

* * *

A handout from University of Miami notes with some satisfaction that four of its players are from Jeanette, Pa. . . . Also playing for Miami this year is Seymour Cohen, 245 pound tackle from New York who is a cousin of Sid Luckman, best passer ever produced at Columbia.

Football's 'Big Three' Facing Disastrous Year

Yale, Harvard, Princeton Combines Making Poor Showings This Season.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—The decline of football in the "Big Three"—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—has reached the point where this select trio, once embodying all that was great in football, now faces the most disastrous year in recent history. Yale is officially on record today as foreseeing the trend, but reiterates its determination to maintain a lily white gridiron policy.

Athletic Director Ogden Miller repeated late yesterday that Yale will not deviate from its de-emphasis program despite the unprecedented 50 to 7 defeat suffered against Pennsylvania last Saturday, and the reaction here was that the Big Three may get out of the big time entirely in the near future.

Princeton and Harvard will go along on much the same basis as the Yales, according to past performances.

All this may indicate a significant trend as Athletic Director Miller seems to think, for there has been more de-emphasizing of late than at any time in the past, except when infrequently some school let football get completely out of control. Pittsburgh is following the de-emphasis trend and Chicago, after a humiliating 1939 season, dropped football.

Miller — speaking strictly for Yale, of course—insisted in a prepared statement that he was not attempting to alibi Yale's swamping against Penn, which followed a 19 to 14 defeat suffered against Virginia the week before to start the wolves to hollering. Yale's attitude is to let them holler.

Princeton and Harvard may feel the same way about it, although no statement has been read so far to reiterate their stand for football purity in the face of Princeton's 7 to 6 win over weak Vanderbilt and 12 to 6 loss to Navy and Harvard's 13 to 0 win over weak Amherst and 26 to 0 defeat against Michigan.

Where all this will lead not even Mr. Miller can say, but he has a notion that there is a big shakeup coming for some schools.

"College athletics and even school athletics are at a critical stage," he said. "The development of big time football has had repercussions all down the line. Its major contribution for good has been the providing of funds to make athletics possible for all." This was the substance of his viewpoint.

He also expressed the opinion that there would be a decline in the next several years. In any case, Yale will make no attempt to build big time teams by letting the bars down.

Yale, he said, would rely on the law of averages to bring in "a fair amount of material and even competition," which, of course, is in keeping with the program currently in effect.

* * *

But it won't work on the big time. Yale's record to date seems to prove it, just as Chicago's did last year.

Break Probation Rule, Ordered To Do Time In Pen

It required only two minutes yesterday for Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston to revoke the probation of Clifford Nixon, 34, of 292 North Main street, and sentence him to Ohio penitentiary.

"It has come to my attention that you have been drinking in violation of the rules of your probation. Is that true?" Judge Huston asked.

"Yes, sir," Nixon replied.

"One to three years in the penitentiary," Judge Huston said. And that was the end of it.

Nixon was placed on probation for five years last August after pleading guilty to an indictment charging non-support. He was taken into custody last week by deputy sheriffs on an order from common pleas court.

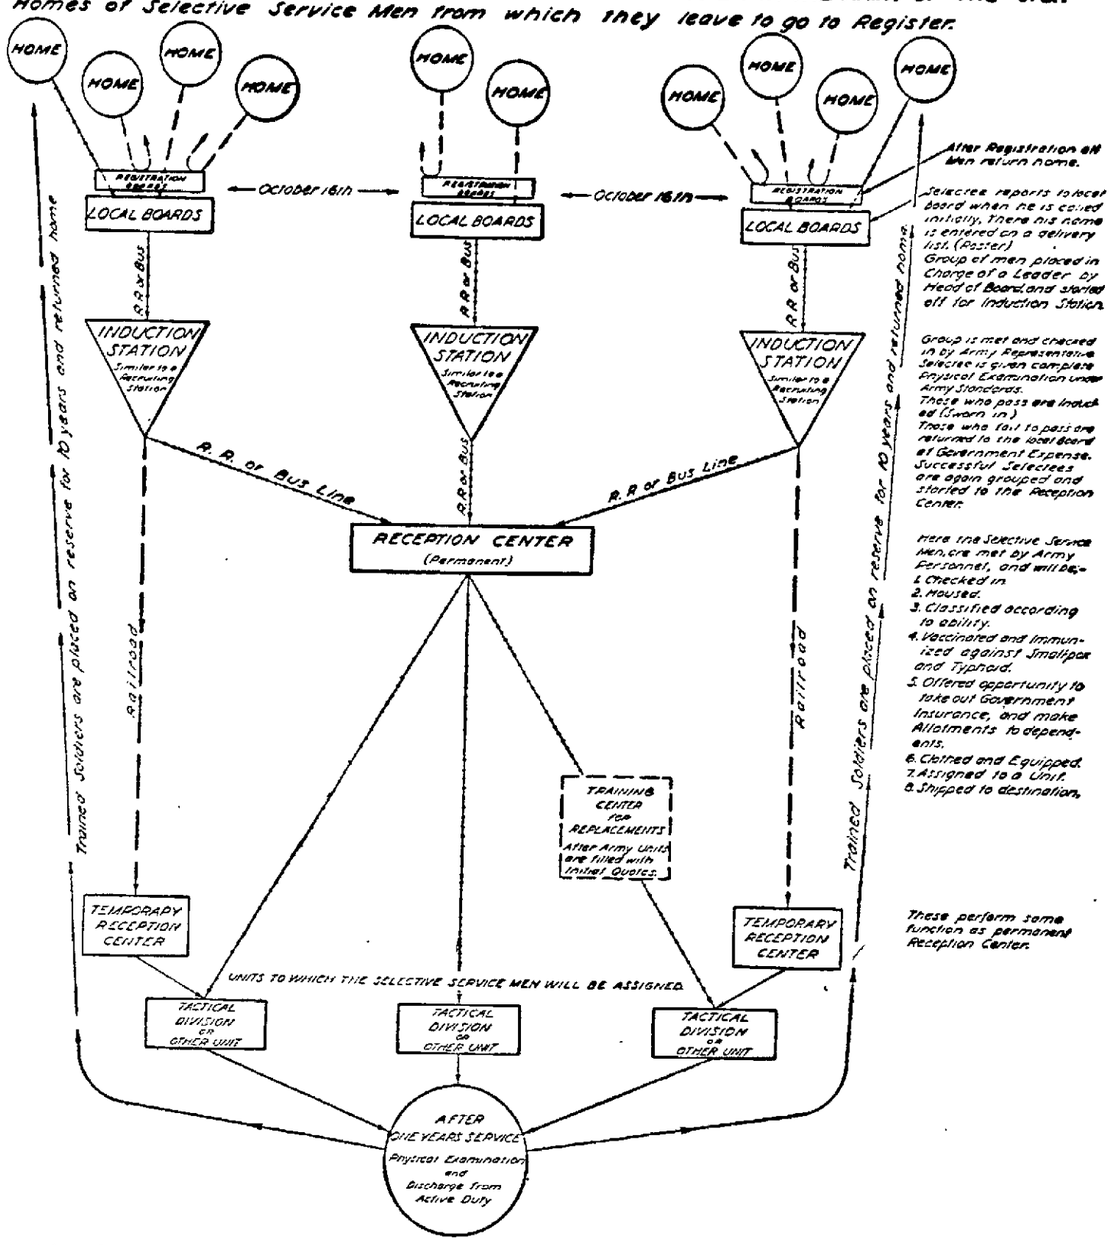
How Civilian Becomes A Soldier In 9 Easy 'Lessons'



Steps taken by a civilian subject to selective service from the time he leaves home to register, Oct. 16, until he becomes a soldier are pictured in the accompanying chart prepared at Fifth Corps area headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio.

All selective service trainees coming from Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana will follow these steps. They include:

1. Men report to their nearest registration board, Oct. 16, complete registration and again return home.

2. Some time later — after first prospective trainees are selected by civilian boards — those called report to their local boards. They are placed in charge of a group leader and are taken to an induction center.

3. Upon arrival at the induction station — similar to a recruiting station — prospective trainees meet army personnel for the first time. Heretofore civilian personnel has been in charge exclusively but now the shift to army supervision begins.

4. The selectees are checked in at the induction station, given a standard army physical and mental examination. Some prospects are rejected because of physical or mental disqualifications and are returned to civilian life. Qualified selectees are sworn into the military service for the first time, again are placed in charge of group leaders and sent to a permanent reception center.

5. At the permanent reception center, and hereafter until they complete training, the recruits are under control of army personnel. The selectees are checked in, housed, classified according to abilities, vaccinated and immunized against smallpox and typhoid, offered opportunity to take out government insurance and make allotments to dependents, clothed and equipped, and finally assigned to a unit of the army of the United States. Then they are sent out to join their units.

6. Men who arrive at an induction center too late to accompany this group to the permanent reception center may be sent to a temporary reception center instead. Here they undergo the same processing as that followed at the permanent reception centers.

7. Upon reaching their regular tactical divisions or training units, the recruits begin their year's training as a soldier.

8. After original tactical divisions or training units are filled with their inital quotas, remaining recruits will be sent to replacement training centers. These men will join newly formed tactical units or will join the original divisions. Others will be sent back to reception and induction centers to fill posts vacated there by the original army personnel.

9. Completing their year's service and needed no longer for emergency, the selective service soldiers will be given a final physical examination and returned to their homes. For 10 years thereafter they will remain members of the army of the U. S. Reserves. If they desire to remain in the active army longer they may enlist as one-year or three-year volunteers.

TABULATE BIDS OF 11 FIRMS ON PIPE, VALVES

Engineers Check Figures For Water Department on Material for Main.

City engineers today were tabulating bids submitted by 11 firms on a quantity of new pipe and valves to be purchased for the construction of a new high capacity water main this winter.

The project, already approved by WPA, calls for construction on a 16-inch main from Lexington and Blanche street, an extension of a high capacity main constructed on Cook road and Lexington avenue two years ago, to the mercantile district.

It is expected that the job, providing employment for approximately 100 WPA workers for a period of about four months will get under way soon after the completion of the West Fourth street paving

Nearly a mile of 16-inch cast iron pipe, six tons of fittings and several large valves are being purchased to begin the construction.

Bids on the pipe and fittings were submitted by the Central Foundry company, New York city; James B. Clow and Son, Chicago; American Cast Iron Pipe company, Cleveland, and U. S. Pipe and Foundry company, Chicago.

Bids on the valves were entered by Hughes Supply company, Mansfield; Darling Valve and Manufacturing company, Williamsport, Pa.; Kennedy Valve and Manufacturing company, Elmira, N. Y.; A. P. Smith company, East Orange, N. J.; Rensselear Valve company, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Hardware and Supply company, Akron; Crane company, Cleveland.

Q. & A. On the Draft

(By International News Service)

Q. If I have a wife or children dependent on me, may I volunteer for the one year training?

A. No. To be accepted even as a volunteer you must be in the "immediately available" class. If you have dependents you will be deferred.

Q. If I am paying alimony will I be inducted?

A. Not if your former wife is dependent on the payments. If you are inducted the payments will be suspended during your service.

Q. If I served in the National Guard and received an honorable discharge must I register?

A. Yes, unless you are an active guardsman on registration day.

Q. If I am between 21 and 35 with no dependents or other grounds for deferment, what are the chances I will be called with the first 400,000?

A. Less than one in ten. Statisticians compute there are at least 4,000,000 in your position.

THEATERS

Jane Austen Story

Jane Austen's famous novel "Pride and Prejudice" provided a screen play for Laurence Olivier and Greer Garson, with an early 18th- century background. This you may remember, is the delightful story of a family of five marriageable daughters and how they all secured husbands. The supporting cast includes Maureen O'Sullavan, Mary Boland, Edna May Oliver and Ann Rutherford. It opens at the Ohio Wednesday for three days.

Rise and Fall of McGinty

Termed by the critics the best dramatic yarn in a coon's age, "The Great McGinty" is a Paramount picture with Brian Donlevy playing the political boss whose rise and fall are marked with human interest. Akim Tamiroff is the powerful political boss who refuses to let McGinty go straight. The picture is scheduled for the Madison tomorrow, along with "I'm Still Alive."

Medical Research

Edward G. Robinson plays the title role in "The Story of Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet," which is showing beginning Wednesday at the Ritz. The co-feature is "Manhattan Heartbeat," a story of two youngsters in love, starring Robert Sterling and Virginia Gilmore.

GAINS, LOSSES EVENLY SPLIT IN TRADINGS

Issues Are Unsettled in Stock Mart Today; Commodities, Bonds Are Uneven.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Negligible gains and losses were about evenly split in today's stock market

Attracting some support were U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Dow Chemical and Standard Oil of N J

Minus signs were posted now and then for American Can, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, International Harvester and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. Securities at London maintained a steady tone despite the presistent blasting of the metropolis by Nazi air bombers.

A constructive market interpretation was placed on the statement of Federal Reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended Oct. 9 disclosing commercial, industrial and agricultural loans rose $42,000,000 to a total of $4,672,000,000.

Nine of the largest aircraft manufacturing concerns were estimated by the federal trade commission to have enjoyed a sales upturn of 49 1 per cent between 1938 and 1939

SOVIET-GERMAN SPLIT LIKELY, REPORTS SAY

Rift Indicated as Reds Speed Massing of Troops on Rumanian Frontier.

strengthening her defense of Egypt.

Dispatches from Rome said the British liner Queen Mary, which left New York several months ago presumably en route to Australia, was reportedly convoyed through the Mediterranean with 15,000 British soldiers aboard. The liner Mauretania also was reported in the convoy as a troop transport.

Soviet Red army troops were reported pouring into Rumanian border areas and rushing the construction of five new military airdromes.

Reports from Bucharest said Russia had an estimated 10 to 12 divisions—150,000 to 180,000 troops—massed on the Rumanian frontier.

A mysterious fire, officially attributed to "a spark from machinery," was reported to have destroyed three wells in Rumania's Ploesti oil fields before German experts extinguished it.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, meanwhile described as a "fantastic invention" reports that Russia, Britain, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia were negotiating on the question of Germany's latest military move in the southeast.

Well-informed sources in London said Britain counted on Turkish and Greek aid and the sympathy of Russia to counter any Axis move toward the Iraq oil fields.

British Hear Reds Occupy Danube Area

LONDON —(UNS)— Diplomatic quarters were electrified today by a Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Bucharest reporting that Soviet Russian troops have crossed the Rumanian border along the Black sea and occupied important points around the mouth of the Danube river.

Authoritative British quarters had no confirmation of the report and were inclined to view it with extreme reserve pending more definite word.

However, military observers expressed the opinion that it might well be a logical move on the part of the Soviets in view of Germany's move to gain military control of Rumania.

The Reuters dispatch said Russian troops were reported to have crossed the Rumanian border at Chilia-Noua at the mouth of the Danube river and advanced about twenty miles to Sulina. It added that the Russians were expected to extend their control to the Gheorghe channel.

This move which would give the Soviets control of the Danube delta, would be of the utmost strategic importance.

Observers felt Moscow might have ordered this move with or without Germany's knowledge in the realization that the Germans are not yet sufficiently in control of Rumania to risk doing anything about it.

Bucharest Receives Troop Move Reports

BUDAPEST—(UNS)—Renewed reports of heavy Russian troop movements on the Bukovina-Rumanian border have been received in Bucharest, it was learned here today.

The Soviet legation in Bucharest admitted the troop movements in Bukovina but assured Rumanian reporters that they had no aggressive designs. Soviet military commanders are merely carrying out routine reinforcements of the frontier forces, the legation spokesman said.

Nevertheless, there were persistent reports that the Soviets were heavily reinforcing their army and air forces all along the Rumanian border.

Large quantities of military supplies were reported to be arriving daily at the newly acquired Bessarabian ports of Valcov, Burnas and Bugaz.

Meanwhile, reports were current here that Soviet Russia and Turkey were planning an agreement to co-ordinate their policies in the tense Balkan area.

Belief that Moscow and the Turkish government are near an accord grew as important Turko-Russian diplomatic talks progressed. One of the chief points discussed was the German military infiltration into Rumania.

Meanwhile, in Anglo-Rumanian relations at the break in the Budapest board that a British exception some members of the legation staff at Bucharest had left Rumania.

Three large oil [illegible] were reported to have been set on fire. Sabotage was suspected.

STREET CREWS LOAD UP LEAVES

With the [illegible] moving for the street [illegible] last night by city council, it was set for today to start [illegible] ing the leaves off the city streets, Service-Safety Director C. H. Crafton said today.

The new trailer covered with a frame of wire netting which the department recently had made, will be used. It will hold four truck loads of leaves and prevents them from blowing away, as they are being carried over city streets.

Crafton said that a crew of 10 men, the trailer and two street department trucks were on the job. They started in the southwest section of the city this noon.

WILLKIE CITES HOUSING DELAY

Charges 'Pitiful Inefficiency' In Renewed Criticism of Defense Work.

after telling a wind-swept audience at Syracuse last night that "the pattern of dictatorship" has been demonstrated in various New Deal acts.

Dictatorship, he said, always has come through "the usurpation of power by manufactured emergencies, the circumvention of the legislature, the capture of the courts."

"That's the road we are on," he added, extemporaneously, "and I'm in favor of getting off that road. Aren't you?"

Many in the outdoor crowd, wrapped in coats and blankets, shouted agreement, and applauded again when Willkie said that the dictatorship pattern "calls for the indefinite rule of one indispensable man."

Willkie listed reasons why he objected to President Roosevelt's re-election. Among other things, he criticized New Deal spending and an increase in government bureaus, and charged that political preference had displaced civil service as a test for federal jobs.

"These are precisely the things that make the third term candidate indispensable," Willkie said, adding quickly:

"These are the things that make him indispensable to the little clique of power-hungry men who hide behind his smiling mask. A third term will give them the opportunity they seek to fasten their grasp irrevocably upon the country."

Willkie declared that the Democratic party had been "kidnaped" by the New Deal.

"It is not the party of Jefferson and Jackson and Woodrow Wilson that has abandoned the principles," he said. "It is the New Deal of Hopkins, Ickes, Corcoran, Hohen and Wallace, which has captured the Democratic party. They seek to substitute for Democratic doctrine the doctrine of the indispensable man."

BRICKER SEEKS FARMER VOTE

Davey Charges 'Un-Americanism' During 'Incident' at Marysville.

when he went to Marysville last week during an Americanism celebration "the local leaders representing the present governor asked all the merchants to take down the American flags until he had left town.

"I do not speak in terms of rancor nor of condemnation of those who committed this un-American act," Davey said, "but I do feel that they have allowed narrow partisanship to carry them far beyond the limits of propriety."

Bricker said the present state agriculture department was "a live, wide awake, progressive organization and listed as among the administration's farm accomplishments:

Aid to farmers in control of bang's disease among cattle; more intensive inspection work; appointment of a commission to resurvey Ohio's water resources and drainage practices; creation of the chemurgic council to assist in development of new crops and new uses for farm products; improvement of buildings on the state fairgrounds.

Davey also addressed a statewide Democratic rally here at which U. S. Sen. Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois, was the principal speaker. Lucas said President Roosevelt was the "one man who has proved that he can match the totalitarian powers in statecraft."

He claimed that Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, "stands ready to strip the United States of all its armed forces" by sending them overseas while the president had "definitely pledged . . . that no American troops shall ever be sent to fight upon European soil."

Lucas described Willkie as a "hasty, blundering show-off" and said he was "backed by the crowd—the same crowd as in 1917—that is anxious to get us into war."

Democratic National Committeeman Charles Sawyer told the rally that President Roosevelt on his trip through Ohio received a welcome at least as warm as during his campaign trip four years ago. Davey claimed the president would carry the state by at least 300,000 votes.

BRITISH CLAIM NAZIS REPULSED IN FIVE RAIDS

Report Gas Works Set Afire In Reprisal Attacks on Berlin.

ringed one area of London before the Luftwaffe renewed its operations, throwing anti-aircraft batteries into action again.

It was estimated 56 districts in and around the capital were bombed during the night.

For Britain as a whole, however, a government communique described the attack as "on a somewhat smaller scale than those of the previous night."

London newspaper trucks twisting through debris-clogged streets at dawn carried papers whose headlines said: "London bombing is fiercest yet," "London's worst terror raid," and "Fiercest night raid of the war."

The Daily Express printed a picture of a large United States bomber under the heading: "Soon we may bomb Berlin by day, too." It added: "This is the big plane for the job—a bomber the fighters cannot reach."

The ministry of information reported new overnight attacks by the RAF on "oil plants and other targets in Germany and on enemy-occupied channel ports."

(Berlin had two alarms.)

A joint communique of the air and home security ministries said London and an unidentified town in the Midlands bore the brunt of the Nazi night attack.

Nazis Stress Raids By Torpedo Boats

BERLIN —(AP)— Raids just off England's shores by little Nazi torpedo boats highlighted a chronicle of naval successes reported by the German high command today.

Although British bombers, winging through moonlit skies, gave Berlin two air raid alarms during the night and crossed paths with Nazi fliers making heavy raids on Britain, the communique stressed Germany's war at sea.

Carrying the naval fight to the British channel coast, it said torpedo boat units "a few days ago" destroyed two British submarine chasers, two merchant ships and took 40 Britons prisoner.

Four other larger merchantmen were reported sunk by submarine attack and a fifth severely damaged.

Success of British airmen in raids on the French port of Le Havre and in The Netherlands was admitted. The high command said "destruction caused by British bombs in the past few days were especially heavy" and "part of the civil population is without shelter."

A lone German reconnaissance plane was said by DNB, official German news agency, to have dispersed a convoy today off the English south coast.

British Bombs Hit Nazi Gas Works

LONDON—(U.P.)—British bombers in a 75-minute attack on the suburbs and the heart of Berlin dumped well-aimed heavy bombs on gas works and communications centers and started a "great fire raging," the air ministry said today.

A large gas works on Danzigerstrasse about two miles from the center of Berlin was one of the chief objectives, the air ministry said, but the Tempelhof railroad yard close to Berlin's great airport also was bombed.

The British bombing squadrons also made heavy attacks on oil centers at a number of German towns and on docks and invasion bases from Hamburg and Emden to Holland and Le Havre on the French coast.

"Other sections of the raiding force concentrated their attack on military objectives in the center of Berlin," the ministry said.

Berlin Admits Big Damage In Raids

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Heavy damage by British air raiders attacking Berlin last night was admitted by the official German news agency D. N. B., which said today that many homes, especially in the western districts of the capital, had been destroyed. Many dead were feared buried beneath debris.

(In London the air ministry said that Royal Air Force bombers were over Berlin last night for nearly an hour and a quarter, "seeking out and attacking a number of military objectives both in the suburbs and in the heart of the German capital.")

The German high command and D. N. B. said that the Rudolf Virchow hospital had been struck and the official agency said:

"Houses in the neighborhood had to be evacuated because in the immediate vicinity one of the bombs has not yet exploded."

U. S. Seeking Broad Agreement With South America

NEGOTIATING FOR MILITARY AGREEMENTS

Key Nations Approached In Plan to Defend Entire Western Hemisphere.

BUENOS AIRES —(U.P.)— The United States has started negotiations with key South American countries for a diplomatic and military agreement, almost approximating an alliance, for total defense of the western hemisphere against aggression, an authoritative source said today.

Under this proposed agreement naval, airplane and army basis would be made available for mutual defense among the republics of the western hemisphere.

So far-reaching are negotiations, according to authoritative information, that they would provide, if successful, new bases for the construction of which, it was indicated, American financial assistance would be extended.

The negotiations envisage far more than mere leasing by the United States of bases in various Latin American countries, according to authoritative information.

Instead, American republics would seek to effect a grand-scale understanding as the result of which they might seek aid of one another or extend aid to each other for united action to keep this hemisphere inviolate.

It is the negotiations for total hemispheric defense now in their preliminary phase, that have led to reports that the United States has leased or is about to lease naval bases in Brazil and Chile and perhaps other countries, according to information here.

VOCAL PROGRAM

Rotarians Hear 'My America,' Written By Mansfielder.

The patriotic song, "My America," words and music for which were written by Mrs. Gertrude Kirkpatrick, of Mansfield, was given its first public rendition at today's meeting of the Rotary club, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

It was a part of a musical program presented with LeMoine Derr as program chairman, and made up of selections composed by Mrs. Kirkpatrick and sung by John Courtney of Galion.

As an introduction to the musical numbers Mrs. Kirkpatrick gave a short talk on creative song writing and also told of the symbolism of the flag and its inspiration in connection with the composition of "My America."

Other vocal numbers for which she played the piano accompaniment were: "My Heaven Divine," "Sweetheart In Springtime," and "If Uncle Sam Needs Daddy."

SERVICES SET

Jewish Thanksgiving To Be Observed at Temple.

Sukos, the feast of the tabernacles, which begins this year on Wednesday, is the Jewish Thanksgiving day and will be celebrated at Temple Emanuel Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Rabbi Myron W. Jacobs will address the congregation at that time on "The Miracle of Life." The temple will be decorated with autumn foliage for the occasion.

The Sukos festival, which stresses the equality of all men, was originally observed in Palestine as a harvest festival, after all the fruits of the year had been gathered. Sukos, in recent years however, has become a holiday of Thanksgiving for the law.

Rabbi Jacobs will preach his regular Friday evening service on "Symbolism in Judaism."

HOLDS ELECTION

St. John's Church Brotherhood Names New Officers.

New officers of the Brotherhood of the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church were elected at the brotherhood's annual chicken supper at the church last night.

George Keil was elected president; William Auer, vice president; Lewis Hill, secretary; Esley Cleckner, financial secretary; and George Gergman, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed at the next meeting of the brotherhood, Monday, Nov. 4.

The supper committee was in charge of Esley Cleckner and members of the Henry Fiedler Sunday school class were guests. Approximately 50 members attended the supper.

Following the regular business meeting, ping pong games and shuffle-board contests were held.

LOSES JOB

Court Clerk Out as Council Fails to Provide Funds.

Delnore Iden, extra clerk in the office of municipal court, was dismissed today despite Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch's efforts to keep him on the job. City council last night failed to appropriate funds to retain him.

Iden was hired three months ago when council appropriated money for a three-month period. The period was up today. Iden has been engaged in clerical work in connection with revenue coming into the department.

Kalbfleisch said today that he had asked members of council to rehire Iden but that he was given no answer and no explanation. He said today that municipal court brings more net revenue into the city than any other department in the city building and that the regular staff is not large enough to care for the increase in business and revenue.

COMPANY AND UNION AGREE

The Central Fruit and Grocery company, Mansfield, and Local No. 40 of the Truck Drivers' union had reached an agreement today calling for pay increases ranging up to 37 per cent for truck drivers and shorter work hours, representatives of the company and union said.

Officials of the firm said only five truck drivers will be affected. They said the drivers will all receive the same wage scale and their working week will be reduced from about 60 hours to 40 hours. The 40-hour week, it was pointed out, will be required after Oct. 24 under the wage-hour law.

The Central Fruit and Grocery company is the first Mansfield wholesale firm to sign an agreement with the truckers' union, Russell Kemp, union secretary, said.

SHIFT PLANS ON TWO CROSSINGS

Engineers Propose Four-Lane Highway Between B. & O. and Erie Structures.

are completed, state engineers will come to Mansfield to go over the ground embraced by the proposition with members of city council, Locke said today.

Under the original proposal, the state proposed to spend about a half million dollars on the two lane project, with the county commissioners to pay approximately $40,000 and the city to pay $11,000 and assume all of the expense in connection with property damage and the claims of property owners.

Action was delayed when city council felt that the property damage and possible condemnation proceedings might cost the city a considerable amount.

State engineers have estimated the cost of property rights and condemnation proceeds at $54,000, ask the city to pay only $36,000 of that amount, Locke said.

City council will take no action on the proposition until the plans have been completed and members have had an opportunity to discuss them with state engineers.

CLINIC REVEALS NEW T.B. CASE

Another new case of tuberculosis has been discovered in Richland county, a report of the monthly diagnostic chest clinic held at the health department last Friday under the direction of Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron, revealed today.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said 22 suspects were examined at the clinic, 21 showing negative tests. The new case was among the 16 suspects from the city that were examined.

One person previously examined for symptoms of the disease showed a negative test when rechecked, the commissioner added.

COUNCIL OK'S STREET REPAIR FUND TRANSFER

Acts to Provide Money To Condition Thoroughfares For Winter Traffic.

Four pieces of legislation dealing with improvement and maintenance of city streets were approved last night by city council in a special 20-minute session.

Two of the measures, approval for which the special meeting has been called by Mayor William J. Locke, provides $3,200 for payrolls and the purchase of materials for the street department to put city streets in shape for winter driving.

Of the total amount, $1,500 was transferred from a fund set up for paving the new Bowman street bridge, to purchase materials for repairing the numerous digups. Another $1,700 was transferred from gasoline tax fund to meet department payrolls.

As the result of the transfer, Locke said 39 street department employes who have been working part time would go on full time immediately, in order to speed up the repair work before cold weather.

Another appropriation of $1,500 was approved to finance the repair of the South Mulberry street viaduct.

The projected work includes the reconstruction of the sub-flooring to eliminate noise caused by traffic and the resurfacing of the roadway.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said work would be started by the street department as soon as materials could be purchased.

In addition, council also approved the issuance of $11,000 in bonds in the anticipation of the collection of special assessments to provide for the paving of Walter avenue.

Approved last month, the project calls for the construction between Sturges avenue and Wood street. The property owners share is estimated at $11,000 and the city's share at $500.

MORE PRANKS

Halloween Vandalism Results In New Police Warning.

Complaints of Halloween pranksters provided extra work for the police department again last night, and today police were investigating fingerprints left by small boys who pried the lock off a garage door and broke into the building.

E. A. Zimmerman, 252 West Fourth street, called police when he found that his garage had been broken into and all the air let out of the tires of his car.

Mrs. H. M. Armstrong, 38 Penn avenue, called police last night when boys threw stones at her windows and on the porch. Police picked up three boys and took them home, with a warning to parents that if the boys were permitted out again during the Halloween season they would be arrested on delinquency charges.

Mrs. Mary E. Moores, 41 Sherman avenue, found a child's new scooter on her porch this morning and is holding it at her home until it is identified.

WEATHER TO BE 'COLDER'

Gone—at least temporarily—are those perfect October days, for last night's rain brought lowered temperatures and the forecast is for "colder" tonight and Wednesday fair and continued cool.

Yesterday was mild to the point of being too warm for the season with thermometers registering 80. Last night they dropped to 45 but the average was still 10 degrees above normal for this date. The mercury stood at 55 this noon and skies had cleared after the rain.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1940.

Folks who gamble in the hope of getting something for nothing usually get nothing for something.

As matters now stand, your congressman should be reached at "House Office Building, Washington, D. C.," instead of at his home address.

The time has arrived for the voter to sit down alone in a sound-proof room, forget campaign slogans, and do some real thinking for himself.

None Exempt From Registration

TOMORROW is the day on which all men in the United States between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, are required to register under the Selective Service Act.

Registration is compulsory — with heavy penalties prescribed for evasion.

Claims for exemption from training or service will come up later for consideration and action—NONE WITHIN THE STATED AGE LIMITS IS EXEMPT FROM REGISTRATION.

Time for registration is from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m., at your precinct voting place, where volunteer workers will serve as registrars.

Employers are to co-operate in seeing that all male employes between 21 and 35 have time to register. Men who can do so are asked to register as early as possible in the day as a rush is anticipated during the late afternoon and until the 9 o'clock closing time.

For the information of those few who plan to make exemption claims as "conscientious objectors" it may be stated that this has been held to not excuse failure to register or to prevent assignment to training of a non-military kind.

Willkie Here Tomorrow

COMING of Wendell Willkie to Mansfield tomorrow for a short stop on his second campaigning trip into Ohio will give the people of this city and vicinity their first opportunity to see and hear the Republican nominee for the presidency.

Regardless of political party affiliation, it is quite worthwhile for voters to have a look at candidates for office, as they are thus better enabled to make comparisons and reach conclusions.

While it is regretted that Mansfield's place in the national defense program is not sufficiently important to require a visit from President Roosevelt during his defense inspection trip to Ohio last Friday and Saturday, his campaign for the vice presidency in 1920 and his campaign tours during his 1932 and 1936 candidacies for president offered opportunities for many voters in this and other states to see and hear him.

Thus far in the present campaign Mansfield has been fortunate in the extent to which local voters have been privileged to hear talks by state and district candidates—gubernatorial, senatorial, congressional and judicial.

With election now just three weeks ahead, and with Ohio among the states credited with having a high percentage of intelligent and independent voters, it is likely that thousands of men and women of this community will take advantage of all opportunities to get better acquainted with candidates and issues before reaching final decisions.

Fall Clean-Up Cuts Fire Hazards

FALL is as logical a "clean-up" time as spring—even more so, insofar as fire hazards around the home are concerned.

When it comes to accumulations of useless odds-and-ends which are found in profusion in many homes, an excellent motto is: "Burn up the junk before it burns you up!"

Some people dislike to throw anything away—or even to give it away or sell it. Old clothes, old furniture, old magazines, for which there is not likely to be any later need, are stored away in attic, basement or closet to collect dust and mold, and also to create a needless fire hazard.

Approach of winter, with increased use of heating equipment, is a good time for an inspection tour of your home and a clean-up of junk. Maybe some discarded articles of furniture can be sold: charitable organizations will be glad to have old clothes: Friendly House can use old magazines to advantage, and toys that have served their purpose would probably be welcomed by children of less fortunate families.

Pleasant fall weather is also an excellent time for the painting and repair jobs that were postponed from last spring — and, goodness knows, many homes and business structures around town could use a couple of coats of paint to advantage.

More Adults Studying

THESE are days when boys and girls go to school in the day time and their fathers and mothers, big brothers and sisters go to school in the evening. Adult education continues to grow. There are night classes in public schools and at many colleges. There are extension courses from the colleges for those who must do their studying by mail.

What do they study? The answer is, everything. In addition to regular school subjects such as arithmetic, languages, history and literature, there are opportunities ranging from shorthand to gardening, from preparation for marriage to foundry practice or the theory of flight.

Some of the courses apply on degrees. Some are not much more than entertainment for those taking them. Some fill gaps in earlier schooling and are sought by persons anxious to improve their jobs or their homes.

All this thirst for learning may present a confused picture of many goals and many interests. It also shows purpose and ambition.

Unpuncturable Tires for Army

TIRES of Uncle Sam's mechanized cavalry are to be made road-proof and bullet-proof. Military trucks will no longer "throw a shoe." Blowouts and punctures, it is said, will be eliminated by use of a new rubber inner tube which can take almost any blow or shot and keep right on going.

In proving-ground tests, bullets of .30 and .50 calibre have been fired into such tires without hurting them. One tire pierced by 50 machine gun bullets continued in service for 200 miles without additional inflation. The new tire is being installed not only on the lighter mechanized cavalry and scout cars but on gun carriages, caissons and heavy trucks.

A chemist predicts approach of a two-hour working day and the end of colds—which, with a $200 a month pension, would overbid New Deal promises.

Catch Your Lobster!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HE'S a puzzled young man. Wants to make something of himself, something different. Doesn't believe in "just fooling around." So he's trying to find "a way of life" that'll take him somewhere, make people know he's alive. But what—and how?

"The advice is so contradictory," says he. "One writer tells you to live by 'impulse and instinct' and the next one is strong for 'logic and reason.' Christ said, 'Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.' Nietzsche cries, 'Live dangerously!' Shakespeare wrote, 'To thine own self be true.' And now you say—'Be yourself!' That sounds fine to me, for I'd personally like to be natural and simple, but how can I go about it?

"Does 'being myself' mean that I should obey my own impulses and satisfy my own desires, regardless of others? Does it mean wearing goofy clothes and doing unconventional things and saying anything that pops into my head? I'd surely appreciate your advice."

CLIFFORD BARTON.

This quiz about "being one's self," Cliff, reminds me of the recipe for Loster Salad once given by a famous chef. "First," said he, "you must catch your lobster." Which suits your case exactly, and all the other yearners who are scrambling so hard for Self Expression, these days. It's a fine thing to Be Yourself—

BUT BEFORE YOU CAN BE YOURSELF, YOU MUST HAVE A SELF TO BE. BEFORE YOU CAN EXPRESS YOUR INDIVIDUALITY, YOU MUST HAVE ONE TO EXPRESS.

"But everyone has an individuality!" you say.

Guess again! Hardly one person out of a hundred has an individuality . . . a distinct, original Self. Instead, most of us have accumulations of copied mannerisms — borrowed wisecracks, second-hand opinions and prejudices—which we call "individuality" but which, actually, has not more distinction than a wad of gum.

Even those secret impulses, those private dreams and rebellions which we believe to be our exclusive possessions are largely hang-overs from our original nursery — the jungle. There's scarcely a form of human cussedness or conceit which you can't find duplicated in any monkey-cage. So there's nothing unique in gargling your soup or spitting in the Other Fellow's eye—or other current caperings which both old and young Smarties effect. The baboons beat us to it ten million years ago.

The only "individuality" you can depend upon . . . the only "way of life" which will serve you . . . is that which you have slowly created for yourself out of your own daily experience. Not some "line" borrowed from Bette Davis or Clark Gable, George Bernard Shaw or Charlie McCarthy. But your own sincere reactions . . . your own thoughts, likes and dislikes . . . your own natural forms of expression.

They may not be numerous or highly dramatic, these personal findings, but they'll be REAL and they'll be POTENT. They'll have a power and appeal which will wipe synthetic glamour off the map. The person who dares to be his own, honest self never need worry about making an impression, for his simplest act will stand out from the common clamor as a planet outshines a match.

"First catch your lobster" . . . first create your Self, then BE THAT SELF. But don't kid yourself that either process will be easy. Individuality is the rarest and costliest treasure in life. The man who achieves it is bound to be envied, suspected and hated by those who lack the energy or courage to follow his example. He will be lonely and misunderstood. But the pride of Being Himself will be worth it all. His "Way of Life" will be glorified.

EVEN THOUGH IT ENDS AT THE STAKE FOR A JOAN OF ARC.

Timely Editorial

Victory for Law and Justice.

Sentencing of George Scalise, convicted labor racketeer, from 10 to 20 years in Sing Sing prison for embezzling funds from the union he headed is another victory for justice and for common honesty and morality in labor's ranks.

There is no stigma attaching to labor in general, to law-abiding labor unions nor decent labor leadership in the Scalise case, anymore than there was in the Bioff case in Chicago, or in any of the other recent instances in which the law has caught up with racketeers who have chiseled into organized labor groups.

What this drastic punishment meted out to a defiant and unscrupulous criminal means is that it is going to be increasingly difficult for those of his kind to gain positions of trust and responsibility in labor circles. The rank and file of labor suffers as much or more than the general public when a notorious character such as Scalise takes over a labor union and proceeds to dominate it and operate it for his personal gain and influences. Every time a Scalise is caught and punished it is clear gain for all concerned.—Columbus Dispatch.

This Is Ohio

In early Ohio schools, pupils recited in one room to a single teacher. Little educational progress was made until principles of the Akron law were extended to the whole state, establishing the present system of free graded schools.

The Akron law, passed in 1847, organized the town of Akron into a single district and provided for the election of one board of six directors with full supervision over the town's schools. In 1848, provisions of this law were extended to other incorporated towns and in 1849 a general law was passed enabling any town to organize under the Akron law.

It was not until then that the state was provided with a system of free graded schools.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

The Past Has a Gift.

A gift the past has to bestow
That nothing else can give.
Experience is in each day.
Each single hour we live.

And nothing that life offers has
As much as this, for each
Of us. No other thing has more
Of worth and truth to teach.

A gift the past has to bestow.
Do not neglect to see
The lessons of the years if you
Would most successful be.

Reorganized Defense Commission Will Free Knudsen of Red-Tape

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Wendell Willkie rang the bell when he asserted that the National Defense Commission needs reorganization. He said out loud what privately has been argued vigorously within administration and defense circles for a long time. Also, you can write it down as a move that is not distant.

The need for reorganization is daily becoming more insistent. With the preliminary tasks of setting up staffs, securing appropriations, and clearing up contract problems out of the way, the commission now comes to grips with its real job—mobilizing the nation's industry for turning out arms, munitions, planes, tanks, ships on a mass production basis, the key to Nazi military might.

Judging from the tenor of behind-the-scenes deliberations, the reorganization plan favored is not along the lines recently rumored. These were that the president was about to place the commission under a chairman to boss all its operations. One story had Leon Henderson, price control commissioner, slated for this place.

This report is unfounded. Neither Henderson nor anyone else is being considered for chairman because the creation of a chairman is not contemplated. An entirely different plan is being discussed.

Coordinator Nelson.

AS THE Defense Commission is now set up, each of the seven commissioners acts more or less independently in his own field. The only tie-up among them is informal and confined chiefly to matters of general policy. There is no organized machinery to coordinate the agency's far-flung operations.

Under the proposed revamping, the members would continue to hold equal rank and be responsible for their individual spheres. But their activities would be coordinated through two major changes.

William Knudsen, soft-talking production wizard, would be relieved of all administrative burdens so as to concentrate his great talents on securing mass production. Functioning as a chief of staff, he would be in charge of deciding what models, types, plants, etc., were to be produced to make possible the mass production needed for modern r[illegible] effectiveness.

The job of providing the ingredients of this mass production—raw materials, labor, transportation—would be up to the other commissioners. And to keep this machinery running smoothly, Procurement Director Donald Nelson, bespectacled managerial genius of Sears, Roebuck & Co., would be installed as coordinator.

He would act as the link between Knudsen, mapping out the production blue-prints, and the other commissioners putting them into effect. Nelson would be the tie that is now missing and so urgently needed.

Nazi Life Preservers.

THE thoroughness of Nazi preparations for an invasion of the British Isles is revealed in a confidential report from military intelligence sources in Surabaya, Java.

Several months before the attack on Holland, Germany purchased 3,000 tons of kapok in the Dutch East Indies. The shipment went via Vladivostok to avoid British capture, and reached its destination during the summer.

Lighter and more buoyant than cork, kapok is used in life preservers; is essential to their manufacture. Military experts estimate that on the basis of two pounds per preserver, the Nazis had enough kapok to equip an army of 3,000,000 for crossing the English Channel.

The sale, made at a time when Holland was trying desperately to appease the Nazis, was through the Netherlands In[illegible] Association of Kapok Growers, which controls 90 per cent of the world's supply of the pod that grows on a tree native to Java. At the time of the 3,000-ton purchase there was approximately 15,000 tons of kapok available for export.

Political Chaff.

INTIMATES ascribe ex-heavyweight champion Gene Tunney's sudden interest in the youth movement to future political ambitions. They say he is secretly planning to run either for governor or congress in 1942 . . . Reciprocating Senator Bob LaFollette's declaration for Roosevelt, silver-haired Leo Crowley, head of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation and potent Wisconsin Democratic leader, will back LaFollette against his Democratic opponent—if the latter continues in the race. There is strong inner party pressure on him to quit. The Sheboygan Press, leading Democratic paper, caustically assailed him as an anti-New Dealer . . . GOP researchers are preparing an extensive report on the earnings of every member of the Roosevelt family since 1933. Still undecided is whether and how this material should be used in the campaign . . . Slow on the trigger, the Democratic national committee allowed the faster-moving GOP to get Madison Square Garden this year for the last Saturday night of the campaign. But the Democrats have nailed down the final radio hour, signing up all networks for 11 to 12 p. m., Monday, Nov. 4.

Absentee Senate.

IF the Congressional Record told the whole story, it would reveal that congress, during the past month, has been fed up with its own sessions. Interest has been low, attendance slack, and members who haven't gone home would rather listen to a ball game than a debate.

When the senate convenes, the clerk has to run through the roll call several times before he can get a quorum. This does not appear in the Congressional Record, where the roll calls are consolidated into one.

Sometimes, in desperation, the clerk counts as present some members who have called up by telephone from their offices, and announces that 49 members have answered to their names. But Senator Vandenberg objects, "We don't legislate by telephone," he says. "Where do you get 49? I see only 25."

So the clerk rings the bell and calls the roll all over again.

On the opening day of the world series, slack attendance so irked Senator Thomas of Oklahoma that he scolded the absent members publicly. Later, he resorted to announcing the score of the ball game, inning by inning, as an attraction to keep members on the floor.

Political-Go-Round.

THERE is a good reason why Senator Burt Wheeler, red-hot isolationist, has been so silent on the issue since the surprise defeat of Senator Henry Ashurst, Arizona conscription foe. Wheeler is being opposed by E. K. Cheadle, Republican World war veteran and Lt. Col. in the Montana National Guard. Called into active service, Cheadle has been forced to wage his campaign through press statements and radio transcriptions. But although handicapped, is vigorously challenging Wheeler on his isolationist and anti-draft stand.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Her best friends tell me that all this tumult and shouting has made absolutely no impression on Carol Bruce, who in the relatively brief space of a few months has become the most widely publicized young woman in America.

If this is true she is indeed a remarkable girl. You pick up a magazine and there is her picture on the cover—in color. You turn the pages of a newspaper, and there she is, modeling a gown, or recommending a perfume, or a toilet article. You lift your eyes to billboards, and there she is. You turn on the radio, and she is being interviewed.

She was the one big find on Broadway this summer. Broadway saw her a couple of years ago when she sang in the hotel New Yorker for $40 or $50 a week, but at that time didn't pay much attention to her. Then she went to modeling sports clothes for women. Then Buddy De Sylva and Irving Berlin wrote a show called "Louisiana Purchase." They put her in it. The first night critics were stunned by her personality and her talent.

Since that moment the build-up hasn't faltered. It has been spontaneous. Everyone contributes to it. I have seen older and probably better actors and actresses go absolutely hay-wire on less attention. Most people can't stand prosperity. Carol Bruce's friends insist she is unmoved by it all. I hope they are right. I hope she realizes that one show or one season on Broadway has never yet made a real star, and never will.

I HAVE to go all out for Eddy Duchin. He gets better and better. I like to talk to him and I like to watch him work. He's the only strictly American band leader I know that I would recommend for a Hawaiian tune . . . Especially "A Song of Old Hawaii," with June Robbins singing against the background of the Three Ear-Benders, a trio of lads in the band. It's really right, and he recorded it for Columbia last week.

Occasionally a stranger will walk into the Stork club and Sherman Billingsley, who has never seen him before, will hail him by his first name. They will speak cordially for a moment, as old friends greeting one another, then pass on.

At other times a man whom Billingsley has known and liked for years will drop in with a crowd, and Billingsley will cut him cold. He won't even recognize him.

WHY? . . . "Well," explains Sherman, "it takes all types to make a world. And my business is to please the customers. Sometimes a fellow will arrange for a party and ask me to address him by his first name, although I personally am unacquainted with him. Perhaps he wants to make an impression on his friends, or business acquaintances. Then again, somebody else may telephone me and ask me not to speak to him when he comes in. Probably he has reasons for this. Naturally, I do not recognizance him under such circumstances. As I say, I'm in business, and my business is to please the customers."

Because the wire and the picture services hopped on them the moment they arrived, you probably know all about the Jones family, of Peterstown, West Va., by now. They were visitors to New York recently. They got an eye-ful and, to New York, they themselves were an eye-full. What made the Jones so unique was their number—17 in all. They are the only family in America with 15 consecutive sons.

A Farmer's Diary

Rough Going

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT HAPPENED as I was visiting a friend one morning. We had just left the barnyard, where he had showed me his fine hogs and cattle, when a new, expensive car drove up and stopped on the barn bridge. A tall well dressed young man in a light top coat got out and looked interestedly around. He had a pinched up mouth and a lordly air that I didn't like.

"You're Mr. Jones," he asked my farmer friend. "I've brought a paper down for you to read." He proffered a legal looking document from an inner pocket, and I saw the farmer wince as he took it in his horny hand. I walked away and waited while they talked. Finally the newcomer turned on his heel, got into his car, and drove rapidly away.

My friend came back to me, still looking perplexedly at the paper in his hand. "Now what do you think of that?" he asked. "That attorney gives me just ten days to raise a thousand dollars and I'll never do it! I'm back three weeks on my payments on the farm. I've been payin' regular for three years. It's nearly half paid out. We've all of us—my wife and two kids and me—worked our heads off to keep up the payments—and would've, too, if my wife hadn't had that hospital trip last month. That set us back $600 just when we couldn't spare it. I sold my best stock before it was ready, to get that money. Now I don't know what to do!"

"Does the man who holds the mortgage know all the circumstances?"

"Yes—for I told him. The lawyer said he thought, since I'd such heavy expenses, I wouldn't be able to make regular payments for some time, and he might as well take back the place first as last."

Neither of us said anything for a little while.

"How's your wife?" I asked, finally.

A smile played over his anxious face, although he kept his misty gaze on the greening wheat field to the south.

"She's goin' to get well," he said thankfully. "She'll get home next week—and the daughter will get out of college, for a week, and come with her. We'll get along. Sometimes, I guess, we put too much value on stock and land and crops. My wife's good health is worth any price it costs—but it does seem as though such bills aren't based on a fellow's earning power."

"You have more real wealth in your happy home than your creditor can understand," I said.

"Well"—he squared his chin—"he may take away our house we live in and our fields, but so long as she is strong and well and we have our home left—we can start again!"

AVIATION NEWS—

15 IN DISTRICT RECEIVE FLIGHT SCHOLARSHIPS

One Girl in Class Receiving Awards at Dinner; 30 Get Certificates.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS.

Fifteen Mansfield district youths, including a lone girl, were prepared today to embark on a 35-hour course of flight instruction at municipal airport.

They are the winners of flight scholarships awarded by the Civil Aeronautics Administration to top ranking students who recently completed a five-week course in ground instruction.

The scholarship awards were announced last night at a dinner meeting of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association attended by more than 100 persons at the Park avenue Baptist church.

Of the 39 students who completed the ground school training in the record time of five weeks, 30 received certificates of aeronautical knowledge, issued by the CAA for successfully passing the final examinations.

James R. Harrington in making the awards last night told the prospective pilots that flight training would get under way at the port in about two weeks.

The class will include nine boys and a girl, with the five alternates picked to succeed any of the original students who may "wash out."

Of the first 10 top ranking students, all made grades of 85 or better in the stiff government exams in Civil Air regulations, meteorology and navigation.

The group was commended by the CAA for the high grades made in the ground school instruction.

Speakers included Dr. M. D. Shilling, Ashland, CAA medical examiner, James Zimmerman, U. S. air reserve corps pilot; Russell Gledhill, instructor and Mayor William J. Locke. Norman Kann, president of the NAA presided at the meeting.

Highest grade among the student fliers was attained by one of the three girls who finished the ground school instruction, Miss Thelma Mae Kennedy.

The other nine were Dan H. Snyder, Mt. Gilead, Louis B. Garte, Ashland; Perry L. Wilson, W. H. Shafer, Carl Culler, Lucas; J. R. Grudier, Anton Letang, D. E. Terrell and M. M. Mullis of Mansfield.

Alternates were Mrs. Laurie Knowlton, L. C. Marks, H. B. Robertson, Paul R. DeSilets, John Emerson.

Private pilot licenses also went to six students enrolled in the summer CPT flight class who have already successfully completed the course of training. Three others are expected to graduate within the next two weeks. One resigned and five alternates will complete their pilot training next month.

The licenses went to E. P. Smith, George O. Case, Harry E. Junker, jr., C. F. Bookwalter, Charles E. Hensch and W. D. Hallum.

Six students enrolled in the CAA's college pilot training program at Ashland were flight tested by Harrington over the weekend, among them LeRoy Wittenmire of Mansfield.

All passed the examination and will be recommended to the CAA for their pilot's licenses, Harrington said.

Judge Zimmerman's candidacy has received the endorsement of several leading newspapers in Ohio.

A carnival featuring a stage show, dancing, and other amusements will be presented at Mansfield Senior high school Friday from 7 p. m. until 11:30 p. m., under the auspices of the Senior high school Parent-Teacher association.

Highlights of the affair will be a 20-minute stage show to be presented several times during the evening in the auditorium by Senior high school students and the annual Johnny Appleseed-John Simpson football game to be played under the lights at 8 p. m.

Those appearing on the stage show program are: Eddie Fisher, piano solo; June Imhoff, toe dance; Marianne Swinehart, vocal solo; Geraldine Brightbill, tap dance; and Helen Samsel, accordian solo.

Proceeds from carnival will go into a fund being built up by the P.T.A. to entertain a group of well-known educators coming to visit the school sometime in November.

Dancing is being sponsored by the 12 B class, which will collect proceeds taken in at the dance. The money will go into the class treasury.

Former Marian Cope Becomes Bride In Summer Ceremony

THE June wedding of Miss Marian Elizabeth Cope to Frank M. Steckel was revealed in Nazareth, Pa., last Saturday evening during a dinner party at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Miller, jr. The former Miss Cope and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lynden Cope, 547 Crescent road, went to Nazareth last Friday for the affair and returned to Mansfield today.

Mr. and Mrs. Steckel were married on June 20 at the First Congregational church in Winchester, Va., with Rev. Robert A. Whitten officiating. Sixteen relatives of the couple were present at the announcement party and learned that after Nov. 15, they will reside at their new home in Nazareth.

The bride, who came here with her parents from Cleveland Heights several years ago, is a graduate of Harcourt Place school in Gambier. She attended Western Reserve university in Cleveland and has been employed at Lumbermans uptown office.

Mr. Steckel, who is the son of Wilson T. Steckel of Nazareth, is a graduate of Moravian university, Bethlehem, Pa. He is employed at the Nazareth National Bank and Trust company.

Choose Delegates To Annual Meeting Planned Oct. 23

Mrs. L. C. Nigh and Miss Sarah Krumm, delegates, and Mrs. A. O. Fonkalsrud and Mrs. H. S. Garnes have been chosen to represent the St. Luke's Women's Missionary society at the annual meeting of the Central conference in Crestline on Oct. 23 and 24. They were named yesterday at a meeting of the society in the church parlors.

Mrs. Nigh and Miss Bertha Harshman were hostesses for the session, when Mrs. Irene Hines presented the devotions. Miss Clara Miller had charge of the lesson, and she told highlights of the national convention which was held in Des Moines, Ia., early this month. Mrs. Rufus Esselburn read the convention hymn, which was written by Mrs. Margaret Seebach of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The next regular meeting of the society will be held at the church on Nov. 11 with Mrs. Homer Miller and Miss Arta Cairns serving as the hostesses.

Appoints Several Officers During Mitchell Tent Meeting

MRS. ALICE OSTER, new district president of the Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, appointed Mrs. Alice Hunter secretary, last evening during a meeting at Memorial hall. She also named Mrs. Theodosia Watts, first color bearer, and Mrs. Bertha Mae Droz, counselor.

The business session was in charge of Mrs. Henrietta Sherman, and Mrs. Hunter gave a report on the Women's Relief corps district convention held here last week. Mrs. Margaret Fair reported on the district convention held in Wooster last Tuesday and on a recent demonstration at the Ohio Public Service company.

Mrs. Doris Clark gave a paper on Columbus, discoverer of America, and presented Mrs. Droz with a gift from several members of the tent. Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell then sang a song, which Mrs. Anna Burger had written in honor of Mrs. Droz. Mrs. Campbell also sang this selection at the National convention held in Springfield, Ill., earlier this fall. At the close of the evening, the members had a party at Bloodgood's for Mrs. Droz.

Members of the tent have been invited to attend a Halloween party given by the Patriotic Federated society at North Lake park Saturday evening. A tent member, Mrs. Emmeline Lyons of Caledonia, has asked the group to attend a covered-dish dinner at her home at noon on Oct. 22. It was announced that rolls and ice cream will be furnished at that time, and those planning to go have been requested to communicate with the president. The tent is planning to have a reception for Thomas Ridenour, Ohio department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, on Oct. 26 from 2 until 4 p. m. at Memorial hall. Members of patriotic societies have been invited to attend this affair.

Three banners were presented to the tent by the Past Presidents' association. These are to be used on the three stations, and were presented to Samuel McFarland, grandfather of Mrs. Winona Flory and Mrs. Margery Ludwig, by the Grand Army of the Republic. The next regular tent meeting will be held at the hall on Oct. 28.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Oct. 16

Fairly fortunate aspects are found in this day's astrological map, although it may take some discrimination, keen insight and a stabilizing force to turn affairs to the best advantage. Minor changes of place or plans may be contributory to this, but in any case there is need for prudent handling of funds and not too bold a plunge into unknown factors. Certain antagonism or want of support may be expected from superiors, employers or others.

Those whose birthday it is may be given the opportunity for progress through some unusual or singular situations requiring discrimination, sound judgment and executive ability as well as by a conservative use of financial assets, although the element of speculation and chance may be reckoned with advantageously. In some respects change of plans, methods or associates may prove beneficial, as the usual superiors, employers or others of influence may be antagonistic.

A child born on this day may have some exceptional talents, with progressive ideas and original ways of getting things done. It may be disposed to take bold chances and not miserly in the use of funds, thereby antagonizing its superiors. However, it will have solid judgment and good executive ability.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I caught my breath sharply as Lillian brought out into the open the question concerning Philip Veritzen's motive in the grueling ordeal through which he had compelled Mary to pass.

I knew, for she had said so openly, that she believed in giving him the benefit of the doubt because it was his custom to put his feminine stars to severe tests to determine their staying power against almost insuperable odds. That secretly, despite her genuine fondness for him, she had shared my doubts of his good faith in the version he had given us at the time of the rehearsal, was now revealed in this daring challenge she had flung at him, one which I knew she never would have made in his present state of mind if she had not believed that the mental compulsion to tell her the truth would be salutary for him, no matter what the answer, and — also — that the chances of obtaining a truthful version would be better at the present moment, than at any other time, past or future.

It was a long second before he answered her, and when at last he spoke, his voice was slow and heavy.

"I cannot blame you," he said, "for attributing the worst possible motives to me, concerning this last ordeal of Mary's, which, I admit, I deliverately planned. But Lillian, in all our years of comradeship have you ever known me to lie to you about anything vital, especially when I gave you my word of honor concerning the matter?"

Lillian's eyes were suddenly friendly, even tender, and I knew that she already knew what he meant to say to her.

"No, Phil," she answered softly. "I always have been able to depend on your truth."

"Then," he said resolutely, "if I tell you now that since Mary's wedding day, I have made no plans to upset her marriage, to encompass a union of Noel and Olina, or to terminate Mary's career as a Veritzen star, will you believe me if I swear to you upon everything I consider holy that I am speaking the truth?"

Her reply was prompt.

"Yes, Phil I believe you," she answered, and I found myself agreeing with her.

"Thank you, my dear," he said simply. Then he turned to me.

"And you?" he asked.

"I share Lillian's opinion." I replied, unhesitatingly. "I believe you are speaking the truth."

He looked at me searchingly, and I knew he comprehended that while I did not doubt his word, there was a question still unanswered in my mind.

"I thank you for your confidence," he said with a formality which had been absent from his answer to Lillian. "And I think at this moment, before going on to the real reason for my asking your presence here, I ought to explain to you both that at the rehearsal or the conference which followed it, I gave you only part of my reasons for any apparently questionable acts on my part toward Mary since her marriage to Noel."

I caught my breath, was sure that Lillian's lungs were also functioning imperfectly for the moment.

"I not only have rigid ideas about the sacrifice of almost everything to the career of an actress," he said slowly, "but paradoxically I also believe that if my son's wife, in a final supreme test, would not put her husband above her career, she is unfitted to be his wife. And, taking another angle, I believe that a true wife should be able to crush all suspicion of her husband's apparently questionable actions, and keep her belief in him, no matter how damning the evidence against him.

"Because I believe that last tenet so strongly," he went on, "I began my testing of Mary as a suitable wife for Noel, when I first received tidings of the terrible plight of Queen Olga and her daughter, and laid my plans for their rescue."

GREEDINESS COSTLY

GREEDINESS for overtricks has cost countless contracts. One mark of the true expert at rubber bridge is his unwillingness to gamble for extra tricks beyond his contract if doing so endangers it in the slightest degree. Average players will frequently tackle a long-shot chance instead of going for the sure thing, but it usually is because they do not recognize just what constitutes a sure thing.

Reckoning South's heart rebid, after showing both suits were rebiddable, as indicating six cards there and five in the diamond suit, North decided properly to pass at that point. Too bad his partner didn't play the hand as well as he bid it.

West led the spade 9 to the J and Q, and East sent back the diamond 9. South decided quickly that he would try a single finesse in the suit; if it won, he would then play the A and then seek a 3-3 split, ruffing the third round in dummy. West, however, won the finesse of the diamond Q and returned his spade 4 to the K and A, South ruffing with the heart 3.

South then proceeded with his original plan. To the fourth trick he played the diamond A, then led the 5, West playing low, and ruffed with dummy's heart 8. East over-ruffed with the heart 9 for his side's third trick. When he shot back the spade 10, South's goose was badly cooked. To prevent an over-ruff by West, he trumped high. This set up a later trump trick for West's 10, and West also took his diamond J, setting it two.

If South had counted a bit he would have seen that he could not possibly lose his contract if he took out trumps at the right time. Had he done that just after ruffing the third trick, forgetting about overtricks, he could not possibly have lost more than one trick in spades and two in diamonds.

THE WORLD IS LIKE THAT + +

By Kathleen Norris
(Copyright, 1940)

CHAPTER XII.

Jocelyn went upstairs across the hall to Norma's suite. She had seen the beautiful old-fashioned rooms before; weeks earlier an army of decorators had come down from the city to make everything ready for the daughter of the house, and Jocelyn had thought that even the Victorian stateliness and the outdated shape of the apartment had made it all the more attractive.

It consisted of three big rooms with a large dressing room, a bath, an enormous square bathroom that had evidently once been a small bedroom, and a bath and bedroom for the maid.

Confusion reigned everywhere as Jocelyn came in, and Norma reigned over the confusion. Trunks were standing about, and out of them had come spilling enough glory to dazzle any woman alive, as it did Jocelyn, who had never seen or dreamed of such a display before.

Frocks of striped linen; frocks of stiff checked taffeta; transparent batiste frocks finished with cunning scalloping of dark blue; evening frocks as frail as tissue and colored like rainbows. Hats broad-brimmed; tiny hats like birds with wings poised for flight; hats made all of velvety French flowers; hats as demure as Quaker calashes with veils and ribbon strings. Gauze stockings in all colors; shining little shoes of every shade and every material from alligator skin to pearls; underwear carelessly heaped and piled in frothy, lacy, fragrant, beribboned whiteness and sweetness.

A slender girl had joined Norma; evidently a neighbor. Norma was trying to find one garment in the general tangle; she kept tossing fresh miracles of beauty out onto the floor, and mutttering "Damn it, where it is?"

Her personal maids and two of the housemaids were hurriedly getting matters into shape; flowers were continually arriving; telegrams; letters; the telephone tingled constantly, and Jocelyn saw her charge get into a rising fever of excitement . . early hysteria as she was swept upward by the sense of popularity and the rush of welcome.

She presently found what she sought, a bellboy's uniform from a Paris hotel, and explained eagerly to her guest that she could wear it when she gave a cocktail party. She then introduced to Jocelyn the other girl—Jean Kimberley. She and Jean had been at Miss Abbott's school together two years earlier, and they had much to say to each other and laughed a great deel.

Jean was a year older than Norma, and was to have a coming-out party next winter. There were engagements and house parties to discuss, and Jocelyn felt reasonably safe in leaving the two together while she went to telephone several telegrams for Norma. One to her mother; a few to girl friends, one to a dressmaker; and one to Count Rene Coudeau. This last one Jocelyn took the liberty of suppressing. Her heart beat the faster for it, but she did not hesitate.

Half an hour later she returned to Norma's rooms, to find that the girls had planned to go to Jean's house for lunch, and afterward to "have fun somewhere."

"Then you'll have to ask me too, Jean," Jocelyn said pleasantly, in a tone that made no betrayal of her inward quaking.

"No, she won't," said Norma. "Because Mama knows Mrs. Kimberley very well, and so does Dad."

"If your father's willing, of course," Jocelyn said. And noting that she had plenty of time, as Norma was in her underwear, and that her maid was only now displaying various gowns for her choice, she went to her own room and telephoned Philip Fordyce in his office.

"Hello!" he said. "Nice to hear from you again. Norma home all right? . . . Good. I'm coming down tonight for dinner. Do they expect me?"

"They do. A Mrs. Royce was here with your mother, and she's arranged a bridge game."

"Nita Royce," she heard him say, in a changed tone. And then, still subdued and thoughtful, he said, "Damn."

Jocelyn came straight to her point. Was Norma to go where she liked; was trusting her to go that far?"

"Not to the Kimberleys," he said at once. "The girl's all right, but I don't like that outfit at all. None. She stays at home."

"Or I go along?" Jocelyn said.

"Yes, of course," he said in a brighter tone, as if he had not thought of that possibility. "If you'll go along it'll be all right. Tell her I said so."

"I can't very well do that. The daughter's right here."

"Oh gosh" he muttered, laughing again.

"I might tell her that you're out of your office, if you'll step out for a moment," Jocelyn suggested, inspired. "Then I can say that I must go with her until I hear from you."

"That's the idea!" Relief was in his voice. "What do you think of her?" he asked as an afterthought.

"She's fascinating, and she's a beauty, and a few good looks wouldn't have hurt her," Jocelyn added the last phrase also as an afterthought; she heard him laugh and was smiling with excitement and pleasure as she went back to the girls.

"Your father can't in his office," she announced, "so Jean will have to include me. Is that all right, Jean?"

She said it easily, smilingly but she knew that a great deal of what the future held depended upon what happened right here and now, in these very first hours of her guardianship.

The two girls looked at each other, and Jean said quickly, with a little laugh, "There's nothing to be afraid of. I assure you! Mother and Countess von Sturmberg were in school together."

"I'm not afraid of anything," Jocelyn said amiably, and left it at that.

"You make me laugh," Norma said. But she was not laughing. "It's just for lunch."

"And afterward maybe we'll go to a movie," Jean added.

"You don't want to go back to boarding school, Norma. I'll not spail anything," Jocelyn said mildly.

"The only thing is, whether Mother expected even me back again," Jean said, starting on another tack. "There's probably oceans of food, but I know Mother's at the club, and I'm not sure what we'd get!"

"Stay here then," Jocelyn said cordially.

"That's no fun," Norma said sulkily.

Jocelyn's heart failed her for a moment. There were a great many hours of this day ahead, and a great many days ahead of this day, and she wondered how half of them—one-tenth of them—would be filled.

"Why don't we go over to the country club for lunch?" she suggested suddenly. "You'd probably see a lot of your old friends, Norma, and there might be something going on—tennis or golf—that it would be fun to see."

To her intense relief, this plan pleased Norma. Jocelyn could see that she liked the idea of appearing suddenly at the club, having arrived from New York only that morning, stepping instantly into her place as one of the most interesting figures in the Peninsula group.

It was arranged instantly that Jean should take her car home, and Norma and Jocelyn should pick her up at her own gate in 15 minutes, and Jocelyn telephoned to the club to reserve a table for Miss Fordyce, and by this time was more gratified than surprised at the obsequious attention that this simple request received.

"D'you know the Kimberleys?" Norma demanded, when they were in the big car, rolling smoothly toward Jean's gate.

"Just the name."

"She's divorced, you know, and she's trying to marry my father. She's been trying for years," Norma said serenely, "and Nita Royce is after him too," she added.

The country club was a spacious building set in sloping lawns, with shining cars ranked under the trees all about it. Inside was warm scented air, much pink and green chintz patterned in ropes of flowers, wide doorways and arches opening in every direction, and chairs set in half-circles near the roaring open wood fires and the sun-flooded southern windows. A heartening and delightful atmosphere, Jocelyn thought, and as the girls were at once enveloped in welcomes, her responsibility for their enjoyment was for the moment lessened, and she could relax and enjoy herself, too.

Another girl and a young boy, Johnny Kimberley, joined them for luncheon. The boy, home from Lawrenceville for Christmas holidays, seemed a nice quiet little fellow, but between the three girls, of whom Norma was the youngest, a conversational rivalry began that bored, surprised and amused Jocelyn equally.

Norma was the youngest, but Norma held the cards. Whatever they said she could top with something even more enviable and brilliant; she had not, like Meggy Brice, been presented at St. James', but Lord Bullhaven had mentioned it to Gran. She had not, naturally, been to any of the Embassy balls in Paris; but she had been the guest while there of the Ambassador. Jocelyn realized that the young innocent boasting was going beyond all bounds, but could think of no effective way of stopping it.

These three pretty girls in their teens were not interested in the food they were eating, or each other, or the sparkle and beauty of the scene around them. They were flushed, eager, almost savage in the race for distinction. They smoked many cigarets, and indulged in many side conversations with friends who leaned from neighboring tables or sauntered across the room and came up to talk.

The luncheon had begun with a brief passage at arms between Norma and Jocelyn, but Jocelyn had come off victor, and for the moment could feel herself fulfilling her obligations to her charge.

Meggy, who was in the debutante class, and was giving a large party on New Year's Eve, had ordered five cocktails as a beginning of the meal. But when they had arrived, and one had been placed before her, Jocelyn had placed hers and Norma's back on the man's tray and had said firmly, "Take those back, please."

"They were ordered," the waiter had said.

"They will be paid for," Jocelyn had assured him.

"Mother lets me," Norma had muttered. But without conviction. It was one thing to sneak a cocktail into her stateroom while Mademoiselle was asleep, or to quietly appropriate one when a great trayful came up to her mother's suite in her New York hotel; it was another to drink one openly here before her grandmother's—and, what was more serious her father's—friends. She had hesitated, and in that second been lost, for the man had actually carried away her cocktail, and Jocelyn had assumed a quiet air that seemed to say that everything was going quite as it should.

Jocelyn, to Norma's "Mother lets me," had not returned "But I don't," but she might well have done so. Norma had given a glance full of patience to the other girls, and the moment had passed without further event.

A group of older girls and young married women began to play poker immediately after luncheon, each with her cocktail glass and ash tray beside her beautifully manicured hand. The mild boy with whom Norma and the others had lunched observed that there was a fine movie in town, and it was immediately arranged that they should all go see it. His car would carry the three girls, he said, but it wouldn't be very comfortable for Miss—Miss——

"Britton," said Jocelyn. He must have heard the name 50 times at luncheon, but he was not a very bright boy, she reflected.

"Then we will all go in our car," she said. Norma might rebel at any minute; make a scene, run away. She had run away from a good many situations. But until she did there must be no compromise. To let her get the whip hand now would be to lose influence over her forever.
